LONDON, April 25.—Communists have burned down the magnificent library and theatre at Plevna, Bulgaria, and a brother of General Georghieff has been arrested at Sofia for harboring Minkoff, reputed arch conspirator.

These were the developments today in the Bulgarian situation, according to despatches received in London.

It was during the funeral of General Georghieff that sixteen persons were killed by a bomb explosion. Minkoff was shot to death by police when discovered hiding.

Further ammunition caches of insurrectos have been uncovered in Sofia, Buigas and Varna, according to other dispatches.

The public prosecutor at Sofia was said to have demanded a death penalty for the sexton of the church where the explosion occurred.

Charges of torture and massacre in Bulgaria were reiterated in London newspapers in statements by British parliament members, Wedgewood and Malone. The London Times correspondent, in a despatch from Sofia alleged that the Wedgewood and Malone charges were unfounded.

Only 500 persons are under arrest in Sofia, the Times said it had been learned from official sources.

NURMI, RITOLA CLEARED OF CHARGES

Director of Drake Sports Says Famous Runners Free of Scandal

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 25.—Director of Drake athletics, Kenneth L. Wilson, today gave both Willie Ritola and Paavo Nurmi, famous Finn runners, a clean bill of health in connection with the expense money scandal caused by their failure to appear here for the Drake relays today.

In a long-distance telephone conversation with G. P. Wendell, mid-western representative of the A. A. U. at Omaha, Wilson said that he did not think Ritola and Nurmi had any knowledge of the exorbitant demands for expense money made in their behalf by Hugo Quist, their representative.

Everybody Happy

Los Angeles, April 25.—Hugo Quist, representative of Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola, and Kenneth L. Wilson, director of athletics at Drake university, have finally agreed upon one matter.

Today, when informed that Wilson had given Ritola and Nurmi a clean bill of health in connection with their failure to appear at the Drake relay carnival, and that he thought neither runner knew of exorbitant expense money demands, Quist said it was certainly true.

"And not only that," said Quist, "but I want to say again that I know nothing of these so-called exorbitant demands of which Wilson speaks."

Ready for Race

LOS ANGELES, April 25.—With more than 30,000 spectators assembled at the Coliseum here today, Paavo Nurmi, the world's most colorful runner, was prepared to match his sturdy legs against those of the eight lithe Indians from Sherman institute, in the three-mile race. Perfect weather was on tap for the flying Finn's far western debut.

Hugo Quist, who is now experiencing some of the grief in connection with handling the affairs of a famous athlete, announced that Nurmi was in good condition and would give everyone present, including his opponents, a run for their money.

While Nurmi was expected to win, it was pointed out that his Hopi rivals were able to step through three miles in less than 15 minutes. The world's record for this distance, held by Nurmi, is not a great deal less than that.

Western stars at the mile distance were ready to go to the mark against Lloyd Hahn, former Nebraska athlete, who is out to shatter a record in that event.

SENATOR ASKS EARLY TRIAL IN CAPITAL

Wheeler, Freed on Charges In Montana, Is Facing Second Indictment

By KENNETH CLARK
For International News Service.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., April 25.—Freed of the charges of misusing his high office to obtain favors for a client before federal departments, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, today demanded an early trial in Washington on his second indictment alleging conspiracy to acquire fraudulently government oil and gas lands.

Wheeler was indicted recently with Edwin S. Booth, formerly solicitor of the interior, and Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator.

"I want an early trial in Washington," Wheeler declared today in a formal statement, "in order that my activities in the Senate may not be further hampered by the Harry Daugherty gang which apparently still has a commanding voice in the department of justice."

After a fiercely fought eight-day trial, Wheeler was acquitted here of charges that he illegally received, after election to the Senate, a $4000 retainer from Campbell to handle oil permits and land litigation before the interior department. The jury took only one ballot.

"The vindication by a Montana jury is no surprise to me, as I had expected it from the outset," said Wheeler.

The government's case in the trial, Wheeler added, was builded on a perjured testimony.

Prosecution Continues

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The acquittal of Senator Burton K. Wheeler by a Montana jury "in no way lessens" the government's intention of proceeding with the senator's trial in Washington on a second indictment charging him with being a co-conspirator in a scheme to defraud the government out of valuable mineral lands, it was announced at the department of justice today.

PROTEST OVER CONNECTING TO SEWERS

Contractors' Prices Too High, Is Claim Of Glendale Officials

Coercion of property owners along the line of the main intercepting sewers, now under construction, by agents of the contractors in charge of the work, in an attempt to force them to have house connections installed at once at exorbitant prices, was charged by a committee of property owners who laid the matter today before city officials.

Complaints to the offices of the city engineer and city manager have been continual for the past two weeks, they said today. An investigation is being made.

The complainants were informed today that they are not required to accept the terms of the contractors. They were told, they said today, that unless the house connections were arranged for at once that they could not be installed except for a much higher price.

Prices Too High

"The prices that are being asked by these agents of the contractors, I understand, is from $2 to $2.75 per foot, said City Engineer J. F. Johannsen. "About $1.50 would be a fair price. Bids that we have received in the past for this same work run between $1 and $1.50 per foot.

"Almost any local contractor would be glad to install the connections for $1.50, I am sure."

Connections do not have to be made at the present time, Johannsen said. Although the main intercepting sewers will probably be completed some time this summer, they cannot be used until the completion of the outfall sewer, which will be at least a year from the present time.

Property owners have been told, they said today, that by connecting up with the intercepting sewers at the present time they would be able to use them within the next few months.

Must Wait Year

"There is no doubt but what there is a certain advantage in connecting up at the present time," said Johannsen. "The streets are torn up now and would not have to be dug into again at some future time if everybody would have the house connections made now.

"But there is no necessity for paying exorbitant prices for the work, nor is there any actual need for having the connection made right now. The outfall sewer will not be ready to use for a year, and the intercepting lines cannot be used before that time."

While Glendale sewer contractors have been unwilling to enter the field in competition with the contractors who are building the intercepting mains, the present situation has led several of them to declare that they are "considering making bids for the installation of house connections."

Germans Riot Killing Youth Election Eve

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service.

BERLIN, April 25.—One youth was shot and killed and many persons were beaten in rioting today over the presidential election tomorrow.

The campaign has been one of the most bitterly contested in the history of modern Europe. There are two outstanding candidates —Dr. Wilhelm Marx and former Field Marshal von Hindenburg.

The campaign virtually ended last night, when both Marx and Hindenburg utilized the radio in the final appeal to voters. Hindenburg's pledge was: "I declare before the whole world that it shall be my endeavor to keep away new terrors of war, and to help the war victims of the past."

Marx said: "In the great decision of the World war, Germany lost. The German people are determined to take account of this fact and accept its consequences up to the limits drawn by the absolute necessities of existence itself."

START ATTACK ON HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Actual Contact Between Two Fleets Made Today as 'Enemy' Approaches

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service

HONOLULU, April 25.—Maneuvers of the great American fleet got under way today. Actual contact between the "blue" forces and the "blacks," defenders of Oahu island, was made at 6:15 o'clock this morning, when the "blue" fleet began its assault of the island.

Striking out from the starry cover of the sweltering tropical night the "blue" fleet was officially sighted shortly after 6 o'clock this morning off Oahu.

Consisting of warships, cruisers and speedy destroyers the invading forces were first observed to the southeast in the direction of Diamond head. No effort has been made by the "blues" to force a landing on the island.

Greatest Maneuver

The attacking "blue" fleet was believed today to have completely surrounded the Hawaiian group of islands. Actual contact between the "blue" and "black" forces of the United States fleet set in motion the greatest naval maneuvers in America's history.

Airplanes of the "black" forces are keeping constant vigil, sweeping above the sea for miles around the islands.

It was believed the attacking forces would first establish an air base on some island, probably Maui, before beginning the onslaught of Oahu island, on which Honolulu is located, and attempt a landing on Oahu.

GERMANY FACES BIG CRISIS IN ELECTION FOR NEW PRESIDENT

Marx and von Hindenburg, Leaders In Contest, Contrasting Types of Men, With Widely Divergent Viewpoints

By WILLIAM PARKER
Of International News Service Foreign Staff

Germany will tomorrow come to a new political crossroads, in the opinion of international observers. Sunday will be Germany's final or "run-off" election for presidency of the republic. Marx and Hindenburg are the principal candidates, contrasting types of men with widely divergent viewpoints. Herewith is presented a character sketch of each:

VON HINDENBURG

Paul Beneckendorff und von Hindenburg is a name which, his friends say, fits the man who owns it. Hindenburg is a big, powerful man, more than six feet tall, a warrior of the old school, grim, fearless and passionately devoted to the fatherland.

Hindenburg's glory all is military. His famous "Hindenburg line" is written down in history as a supposedly impregnable barrier, which ingenuity and valor smashed.

Hindenburg was born in Prussia, October 2, 1847. He fought in the Franco-Prussian war and in the Austro-Prussian war. Later he was military instructor in Kriegschule, the war institution in Berlin.

Apparently his military career was over when he retired in 1907. Nine years later he was called again to the colors and astounded not only his own country but the world with his shrewd military tactics. The Germans were fearful the Russians would come over their eastern borders and end the war.

Crushes Russia

August 30, 1916, von Hindenburg was appointed chief of the German staff. He moved swiftly and ruthlessly on the over-confident Russians, battling them on the marshy ground of the Masurian lakes and taking 40,000 of their men in a single engagement.

Overnight he became one of Germany's greatest heroes. He was christened by popular acclaim "the Old Man of the Masurian Lakes." A wooden statue of him, forty feet high, was erected in Berlin, and the people paid to drive nails into it. Cities and streets were named for him.

He set April 1, 1918 as "Der Tag" the victorious Germany army was to march through the streets of Paris.

Beaten Back

But the resolute Americans and Canadians broke through the Hindenburg line at Passchaendaele, Belgium. Then American, British and French troops moved the line back foot by foot until, eventually, they moved it into oblivion.

Von Hindenburg did not desert his defeated fatherland, as did the former kaiser and von Hindenburg's chief aide, von Ludendorff. He remained at the head of the demoralized troops through the difficult days of demobilization, until the provisional chancellor of the new republic, Friederich Ebert, said his task was completed.

When some of the allies sought to place the former kaiser on trial Hindenburg volunteered to take his master's place and suffer such punishment as might be determined. Of late years the aged veteran has been in peaceful retirement at Hanover.

WILHELM MARX

Dr. Wilhelm Marx is essentially the lawyer, or legal type of politician. He is soft-spoken, a clear thinker and wins his parliamentary victories through logic rather than oratory.

He was born in Cologne, capital of the Rhineland, January 15, 1863. His interest was in legal problems and he became a lawyer. Marx represented Grefeld, a textile town on the Rhine, in the Prussian Diet from 1899 to 1918. He was elected to the Reichstag from Mulheim on the Rhine in 1910 and has been leader of the Centre or Catholic party since 1921.

Early in his career in the Reichstag he attracted attention through his ability as an organizer and the calm tone of his speeches. It undoubtedly was due to his mildly passionate pleadings that religious education was given equal rights in the Weimar constitution, the backbone of the German republic.

For Dawes Plan

Marx is an advocate of the Dawes plan and had it accepted by Germany, despite strong opposition in the Reichstag. Marx, too, favors American influence in European affairs.

One of Germany's foremost liberals, Marx believes in the policy of co-operating with the allies rather than one of isolation. He is an enemy of the Nationalists. He believes in dealing with actualities, has urged the payment of reparations and acknowledges that Germany lost the war. He believes in building a new Germany on a firm economic basis, rather than planning for another "Der Tag."

Marx, as chancellor, was bitterly attacked by Monarchists and Nationalists for accepting the Versailles treaty, he contending that only through meeting its obligations could Germany attain national and economic freedom.

French for Him

The French favor Marx's candidacy for the presidency. His candidacy represents a coalition of Socialists, Centrists and Democrats, which means he is the candidate of all the Republican and Constitutional parties responsible for the so-called Weimar constitution.

Marx was Germany's seventeenth chancellor. He resigned December 12, 1924, when the Socialists failed to obtain a majority in the December elections. President Ebert asked him to remain in office and he tried five times to form a new cabinet, but was blocked by Nationalists. He finally left the chancellorship January 9, 1925.

Although the Barmat bank scandal, having to do with juggling of funds of the Prussian State bank, happened during Marx's administration, his name was never brought into the case as having been in any way responsible.

ONE THOUSAND BILLS FOR GOVERNOR'S APPROVAL

Cost of Legislative Meet To Taxpayers Set at Sum of $204,307.77

SACRAMENTO, April 25.—Having given birth to only one constructive measure of major importance during eighty legislative days, the 1925 state Legislature closed its files today and adjourned.

The outstanding accomplishment of the session was the passage of the 3 cent gasoline tax, designed to furnish a new construction fund for the State Highway commission of approximately $20,000,000 per biennium.

Exclusive of printing charges, which will probably approximate $100,000, the cost of the legislative session to the taxpayers was $204,307.77, according to a check made by State Controller Ray L. Riley.

Session Is Short

The 1925 legislative meeting was one of the briefest in the history of the state, falling twenty-one days short of the torrid session of two years ago. Expenses of the Legislature also fell far below the cost of the 1923 session, the bills two years ago aggregating $242,399.57, exclusive of printing.

Of the 2000 odd bills submitted during the session, slightly over half secured the approval of both houses and were sent to the governor.

The total output of the legislative grist mill was 1152 bills, of which 756 originated in the Assembly and 396 in the Senate. The great majority of these measures are still to be acted upon by Governor Richardson, less than 100 bills having been signed and vetoed by the state executive to date. If the governor maintains the veto record set two years ago, less than 600 of the measures sent to him will become law.

Divides Highways

During the final hours of the legislative meeting, the outstanding bill to receive approval was Senator Arthur H. Breed's act dividing the highways of the state into primary and secondary systems, as recommended by Governor Richardson's highway investigating committee. The measure passed the Assembly without opposition. Under the Breed plan, 75 per cent of the funds for road construction will be used for highways in the primary system and the balance for roads in the secondary system.

Other measures passed at the final session included the following:

Senator Dennett's constitutional amendment limiting the amount to be paid by the state toward the salaries of justices of the supreme court, district court of appeal and the superior courts to $3000 per year.

Senator Gates' bill providing for the tagging of the carcasses of deer killed in one county and transported to another.

Senator Slater's bill appropriating $100,000 for the aid of county and district fairs.

Senator Boggs' bill appropriating $71,000 for the Calaveras river flood control project of the city of Stockton.

A bill appropriating $200,000 for the construction of a new grandstand at the state fair grounds here.

Enactment of a measure to create a state department of mines and minerals.

Appropriation of $100,000 to construct a California building at the Nevada state highway exposition.

Defeat of two measures aimed at re-organization of the state school department, one of which would have abolished the office of Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction.

WORK OF SPANISH DRAMATICS TOLD

Parnassian Club At Regular Meeting Consider Rest Of Spain's Art

By EDNA WARREN

Works of some of the most famous Spanish dramatists were studied by the Parnassian club at the regular meeting last Tuesday.

The program was planned by Virginia Harsh who made arrangements to have Mrs. Mabel Lambert, of the Spanish department give a talk on Spanish dramatists.

"Spain has just as celebrated modern dramatists as has England," Mrs. Lambert stated. She said the Spanish authors are more prolific than the English and gave as an example the Quintero brothers who have produced altogether about 130 plays and comedies of the best type within the last thirty years.

Works of Quinteros

The works of the Quintero brothers have been translated into many languages and have been used on the stages of many countries.

Some of their most famous plays are "No Fumadores," "Sonreqorda" and "Manana del Sol." Mrs. Lambert read the latter from the original Spanish, translating it into English.

"Manana del Sol" is a one act play, the scene being a city park where an old lady and an old man quarrel over a bench. The quarrel soon wears out and the two become friendly. The conversation drifts back to the days of their youth when they had been in love with each other. Both keep their identity secret because they had grown so old and ugly, but each one knows the other is the sweetheart of his youth. In this way a very amusing tangle is obtained.

Delicious home-made candy was served before a short business meeting that concluded the program.

Girls' 'Gym' Team Is Invited to Pasadena

EDNA WARREN

Glendale has been invited to send teams from the girls' gym to South Pasadena, May 2, to compete in a play day devoted to contests in girl's scholastic sports. It has not been decided definitely whether class teams or school teams will take part. In case it is decided to have class teams, the winners of the various tournaments that were recently held will represent Glendale.

Should it be necessary to send school teams, girls who have done the best playing in the tournaments will probably be picked from the different classes.

Miss Knight, head of the girls' physical education department, stated that the gym instructors have been watching the girls in their play and will be able to choose some splendid teams without holding try-outs, although no definite plans have been made.

STUDENTS FROLIC IN UNIQUE GARB

Jinks' Day Celebrated at High Schools; Prizes Are Awarded

By WARD FOULTZ

With a general good time, "freakish" costumes, blood curdling noises, childish pranks, bold clowns, demure old maids, Jinks day, the annual students' frolic, was celebrated yesterday at the Harvard and Broadway high schools.

Through all the halls, puzzling creatures resembling almost every known thing on earth from a Hottentot to a donkey, were seen. Ku Klux Klansmen raided Chinamen. Big, bad, bully tramps frightened innocent little girls with pig-tails down their backs.

In all, it was a real Jinks day!

Programs Given

Many of the classrooms presented programs in which the various students performed. Because of a board of trustees' ruling, there was no dancing.

At 9:30 in the morning the students were called to the auditorium for a Jinks day assembly. Student and faculty talent was presented at this time. Also there was a parade of students across the stage, contesting for a prize for the best and most original costume.

Given First Prize

Mary Anne Ulrich won first place for the best girl's costume with a clever impersonation of the "Dutch-Cleanser woman." Bill Bradbury, representing a drunken villain won the boy's prize.

Several acts were given by various students, Julia Pelley, dressed as a pickininny," danced a jig. Marjorie Temple recited a poem. Lynette Hezmalhach sang a solo, and Dana Van Loon and Bill Montgomery put on a clever act together.

Students Entertained

Harold L. Brewster, dramatics coach and popular member of the faculty, entertained the students with an original monologue act which was very entertaining.

The last act on the program was jazz music furnished by the Senior orchestra. The members of this organization are Henry Grace, Art Cresse, Tubby Walcott, Wally Trau, Norman Nelson and Ralf Eckles.

After the day's classes, the students gathered on the lawn in front of the building and finished in grand style. Here the Jinks day spirit predominated. Groups of students wandered around the campus taking snap shots of each other, talking, laughing and playing pranks.

This Jinks day was one of the most successful ever held and the students are no doubt anticipating next year's day of fun and frolic.

'JINKS DAY' MAKES HIT WITH PUPILS

Annual Frolic Of Glendale High Students Carried Out In True Form

By BARBARA BLAKE

Perhaps you noticed yesterday some terrible figures walking up Broadway and wondered who and why they were. Tramps, milkmaids, policemen and convicts were included. And perhaps you wondered if they had escaped from Napa. But these, dear public, were but the studious and solemn students of Glendale high school turned for one day into fools. The day is known as Jinks Day and, as an annual day of fun-making, it is always looked forward to by the students and faculty alike.

Don't misunderstand, because classes are carried on as usual and not a moment is lost. After school the lawn was turned over to the students for the purpose of taking pictures.

"Jinks Day"

This is the way "Jinks Day" started. In 1916 Glendale was scheduled to play baseball in Alhambra. It was a bewildering sight which greeted them at the Alhambra city limits. Everywhere one seemed to be confronted by a tramp.

One year later Alhambra was scheduled to play basketball upon the Glendale courts. It was thought a good plan by some students to greet Alhambra in the same way they had surprised Glendale the year before. The plan was discussed for a week.

Final Decision

It was finally decided that it would be wise to celebrate "Beau Brummel-Sis Hopkins Day" instead of copying Alhambra's "Hobo Day" which is now called "Tramp Day."

The day turned out to be a huge success. The following year the faculty and seniors had a baseball game in which Mr. Howe, vice-principal and now vice-principal of Coachella high school suffered a black eye. The following years a grand march was held.

In 1922 moving pictures were taken of the Grand March on the lawn of Harvard high. Each year these pictures will be shown in the high school auditoriums.

Earl T. Brown, head of the science department, states that according to the present arrangement any student receiving a grade of II or I in any upper science will be eligible for membership in the new organization.

All students who received a grade of II or I for the preceding year will be considered as charter members. Those who have thus far received this honor are as follows: Coralie Hatch, Halbert Powers, Jack Sturgess, Karl Foltz, Roscoe Graham, and Kenneth Greenlaw.

Initial Members

The first members who will be initiated will be students having the required grade for the past semester including:

Marian Duey, Margaret Clarke, Frances Hodgson, Ruth Geis, Gladys Woodyard, Marian Ballard, Lucille Hinze, Alene Darby, Bob Ayars, Charles Buss, and James Fife are the students who will be first to enter the new organization.

Some time late in the year the students making the required grade for the present semester will be admitted for memberships.

Members of the organization will be allowed to wear pins. Those who have received the fequired grade for three years will wear a gold pin set with a red stone. Those persons qualifying for two years will wear a silver pin, while a bronze pin will be worn by those meeting the requirements for one year.

Students 'Look Pretty' For 'Stylus' Pictures

By GENE LYNCH

Various clubs and other organizations in the school, have in the past few days been having their pictures taken for the Stylus. The Stylus is the year book put out by the senior class of G. U. H. S., and is looked forward to by the pupils with great interest.

The Girls' league boards, the auditorium management, ticket takers, ushers, "The Explosion Staff," the cafeteria workers, the girls on the volley ball teams, and the Somoac club had their pictures taken Thursday.

The Somoac Art club has made one previous attempt at picture taking. Members turned out and sat on the steps of the school for fifteen minutes Monday and tried to look beautiful.

Hendrik Van Rensselaer, the photographer, had his troubles though. Members of the fair sex said the wind blew their hair out of place.

Those of masculine gender complained because it was too cold to show their sloppy sox, and finally to settle the matter it started to rain. The girls took to their heels at once to save their marcels so Hendrik was forced to give up his photographical work until weather conditions were more favorable.

Commencement Plans Made at High School

By PAUL HUSTON

Orders for senior announcements were taken at the Broadway High school all this week. Mr. Earl T. Brown, faculty adviser, with the assistance of the announcement committee, has had charge of the ordering.

The announcements this year are to be engraved on heavy white panelled paper. The pin design is to be done in white gold and plain gold. The lettering is to be shaded cathedral style.

Teacher Weds Quietly In Bakersfield

By MARJORIE PHILLIPS

Miss Mildred V. Veazey, charming Glendale high teacher, was married to Richard Batten, of Kingsburg, Saturday, April 11, at Bakersfield. The ceremony was a very quiet one, and was a great surprise to their Glendale friends who knew nothing about the event until it had taken place.

Mrs. Batten is very popular with all Glendale high students and members of the faculty, especially among the teachers of the English department, as she herself is an instructor in English, at the Harvard high school. She intends to complete the rest of the school year teaching. Mr. Batten has a business in Los Angeles, and is very well liked at Kingsburg, where he owns a ranch, and it is there that the happy couple will live.

School Play Held Up by Lead's Illness

By PAUL HUSTON

Practice for the senior play, "Seventeen," has been held up for the past week due to the illness of the leading woman. Helen Lynd, who is taking the part of Sola. Otherwise the play is progressing to a great extent, and it promises to be the best ever held at Glendale high school.

Several changes have been made in the cast, due to inability to meet the qualifications in studies. Ralf Timothy is taking the part of Genesis, the negro servant, and promises to be one of the hits of the play. His work is exceptionally good considering the short time he has had the manuscript.

Settings are to be featured this year for the first time, due to the fact that the velour curtains have lost their novelty. The semi-realistic porch exterior is to be featured. There are five changes of scene during the play.

GIRLS' LEAGUE IN SCHOOL PROGRAM

Harvard High Students Are Guests Of Broadway In Entertainment

By BARBARA BLAKE

Last Wednesday a Girls' league assembly was held in the Broadway High auditorium for the purpose of giving the girls their monthly entertainment program. Helen Anderson had charge of the assembly. After explaining to the girls that the program was being given entirely by Harvard High freshmen girls she turned the meeting over to Betty Mabery.

Betty expressed her appreciation for the girls' presenting such a delightful program. Then she in turn gave over the assembly to Jean Williams who will be remembered as the winner of the local oratorical contest representing the freshmen class. The program was as follows:

Girls' Program

Croon Song, Harvard High double quartet; Italian Reading, Betty Brown, violin solo, Adoration, Mary Anne Fleming; Irish Jig, Dovina Wood.

This concluded the program. Betty Mabery then announced that Thursday would be the last day that the executive board of the Girls' league would be able to have their Stylus pictures taken. She urged them all to be sure and be out for them.

The program was enjoyed by all and hope was expressed that the Harvard High girls might come up to Broadway again with a program.

SPANISH SOCIETY GIVES PROGRAM

Advanced High Students In Modern Language Study Famous Artists

By EDNA WARREN

Las Camaradas Espanoles, the advanced Spanish club, consisting of students who have finished third year Spanish, presented an interesting program last Wednesday afternoon when the lives and paintings of two famous Spanish artists were studied. All the speeches were given in Spanish.

Orma Newbourn gave some interesting facts about the artist, Sorolla.

The life of Murillo was the subject of an entertaining talk given by Irene Newton. She also told about some of his most noted pictures.

Spanish Carnival

Another part of the program that proved particularly interesting was a description that Consuelo Mirano gave of the carnival in Spain, preceeding Lent.

A musical program rendered by members of the club. "La Golondrina" and "Sobre Las Olas" were played on the violin by Lillian Sutton, with piano accompaniment by Beatrice Sutton.

Frances Johnson sang "La Perjura" and "Ciclito Lindo," accompanied by Beatrice Sutton.

The concluding number was a piano solo "Hermosillo."

Girls' Swimming Club Get Lesson at Y.W.C.A.

By MARIAN DUEY

Swimming lessons were enjoyed Wednesday by the Girls' Swimming club of Glendale Union High school at the Y. W. C. A. in Los Angeles. This club was organized last year and is a branch of the Girls' Athletic club.

Excellent swimming teachers are employed at the Y. W. C. A. and the very best instruction is obtained by the girls taking advantage of these lessons.

A very reasonable rate of $2 for weekly lessons throughout the school semester has been made to the high school students.

Humorist Is Drawing Card At Assembly

By SUMNER LAMKIN

"How like a human being is an automobile. Keep the human machine full of common sense and it will work without trouble." These were the words of Jerome Shaffer, nationally known humorist, at an assembly held during roll period, Thursday.

Mr. Shaffer, who will give an assembly Thursday, April 30, showed how by a simple facial change and a slight change in voice, years can be added to one's appearance.

He also imitated a four-year-old girl and a thirteen-year-old boy trying to speak in public. To leave a happy thought in the minds of his audience he next played, "Tripping Over Long Beach Sands," one of his own compositions. This was a very snappy fox trot, but, as he explained, it did not have the jazz of the modern, popular song.

The prices of the tickets to the assemblies, which he will present at both Broadway and Harvard high schools will be fifteen cents for pupils and twenty-five cents for outsiders.

MOOREPARK PUPIL WINS ORATORICAL

Frank Colston Takes Honors In Elimination; Local Entry Is Third

By WARD FOULTZ

Displaying unusual oratorical ability, Frank Colston, Moorepark representative, won first choice in the Constitutional Oratorical elimination contest held last Friday evening, April 17, in the Broadway high school auditorium. Morris Panarsky, San Pedro representative received second place, while Miss Elsie Forsythe of Glendale won third.

In this contest no prize was given as it was merely an elimination between the representatives of the six schools, San Pedro, Moorepark, Long Beach, Glendale, Venice and Gardena. However, a handsome silver loving cup was presented by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to the winning school.

In his winning oration, Frank Colston, showed his audience just what our constitution does for us and then proceeded to point out the means by which to support it saying:

Winner's Argument

"When the Constitution was in the making, one of its fathers, Benjamin Franklin, said that he knew not whether this nation of ours, which was in the making, would be a rising or a setting sun. It is we who shall determine whether ours is to be a rising or a setting sun!"

The winner of this elimination contest, participated in the grand finals for Southern California at the Los Angeles high school auditorium yesterday. The prize at stake was $1,000. The last of the constitutional oratorical contests, esponsored by many hundreds of newspapers in the United States, will be held at Washington, D. C., on May 8th. President Coolidge will preside, and representatives from high schools all over the country will compete.

The speakers in the order of their appearance were: Morris Panarsky, San Pedro representative; Frank Colston, Moorepark; Gregson Bautzer, Long Beach; Miss Elsie Forsythe, Glendale; Melvin Clark, Venice, and Tom Jones, Gardena.

Before the orations were given, the Glendale Union high band furnished several selections and the Boys' Glee club quartet sang while the judges were making their decision.

Mr. Albert D. Pearce, president of the board of trustees, Glendale Union high school acted as chairman.

'EXPLOSION' GETS STUDENTS' 'GOAT'

Late Edition Of Glendale High's Paper Causes Much Commotion

By GLENN CUNNINGHAM

Criss-crossed, colored and crazy was one's first impression of yesterday's edition of the high school's weekly paper, "The Explosion," or, still more appropriate, "The Commotion," as it was called by a wag.

Even the school's dignified and stately paper could not go unaffected by the terrible jinks which threatened to demolish all school activities yesterday.

In the first place it was printed on yellow paper, not ordinary yellow paper, but a terrible, vicious shade, resembling that of report cards, which made everyone seasick before they attempted to read it.

The seasickness developed further when the reader whirled around in a circle at a furious rate trying to keep up with the print which refused to stay topside-up in orderly columns as respectable print should.

Chief Staff Writers

A mock staff headed by the Chief Humbug consists of Socialist Humbug, Gossip Humbug and other insects. The special "apartments" take care of the prison and warden's office, the labor unions, and pupil's anatomy. Some of the members of the staff are Spark Plug, Hal I. Tosis, Otto B. Shott and Mes. Skeeter.

A special feature of the edition was the telegraph sheet containing news obtained over leased wire from the Unassociated Pest Dispatch telling all the latest news concerning prominent students.

Cartoons, inverted headlines, reversed names, and general nonsense are seen on every page.

CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS CLOSES

Final Reports Are Given by Team Captains In C. C. Five-Day Drive

The five-day membership drive of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce came to a close last night with a dinner at the Harriett Mae tea room. Team captains and members of the board of directors of the chamber gave in their final reports for the drive at that time, showing an appreciable gain in membership as a result of the week's work. Dr. T. C. Young, membership chairman, who presided at the meeting last night, thanked the campaign workers for their part in the drive. He announced that the teams would not be released, but that a supplementary drive to round up additional members who failed to join during the campaign would be undertaken.

For the purpose of outlining plans for this supplementary drive, team captains and their helpers will meet at the Harriett Mae tea room Thursday, May 7, Dr. Young announced. President D. H. Smith of the Chamber of Commerce also spoke to the workers last night, thanking them for their part in the drive.

CLASS PLAY FOR SENIORS CHOSEN

'Seventeen' to Be Presented May 7 and 8 at School; Brewster Directs

By MERRILL MILLER

For this year's class play, the senior class of Glendale Union High school has chosen "Seventeen," a stage adaptation of Booth Tarkington's well-known novel of the same name. This play is being rehearsed and will be presented May 7 and 8, in the Broadway High school auditorium, under the direction of Harold L. Brewster, dramatic director of the high school.

"Seventeen" ran for eight months in the Booth Theatre of New York City, and in other cities had similar engagements. It is known as an interpretation of "youth and love and summertime," and is, indeed, an interesting play,—containing both humor and pathos.

Under the able direction of Mr. Brewster, it is certain that "Seventeen" will be as much of a success here as it has been in the past. Walton Andrews and Helen Lynd are to play the leading roles and have as their support a very competent cast, which follows:

Trojan May Day Party To Be In L. A. Coliseum

The annual May day festival of the University of Southern California will be celebrated May 15. The Los Angeles coliseum will be the scene of the afternoon's events, and at night a circus dinner and dance will be held on the campus.

Chariot races and Roman and Grecian field events will be on the afternoon program. A Greek frieze and ballet will be one of the features of the afternoon. The May day program is in charge of Mrs. R. B. Von KleinSmid.

TELEPHONE CONDUITS IN ATWATER PLANNED

Three-Mile Underground Passage for Lines to Be Built Within Next Two Months; Bids Are Asked

Telephone facilities that will be adequate for the Atwater district for all time to come will be installed within the next two months, it became known today when bids for a three-mile underground conduit running from Hollywood to the corner of Glendale boulevard and Glenhurst avenue were advertised by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Work on the gigantic conduit job will commence as soon as the contract has been let. Engineers for three contracting firms surveyed the ground today preparatory to submitting bids on the project. Completion of the conduit system is scheduled for June 15, according to the specifications. Immediately after that cable will be pulled through the new pipes and Atwater phones will be connected with the Prospect office where more efficient service will be rendered patrons than is possible through the Garfield office where Atwater calls are handled at the present time.

The underground system will start at Fountain and Talamadge streets, Hollywood. Crossing the river, it will enter Atwater Park near the Pacific Electric tressle, coming to the surface at Glendale boulevard and Glenhurst avenue. The conduit will be a little more than three miles in length. Tentative plans for the future extension of the conduit along Glendale boulevard as far as the Glendale city limits, are included in the specifications issued by the telephone company.

Wardlaw Club Formed

Fifty civic leaders in the Atwater district met last night at the Shugart building and, after hearing an address by Charles T. Wardlaw, candidate for the Los Angeles City Council, formed a Wardlaw-for-Council club that will actively take up Mr. Wardlaw's campaign in Atwater Park. The meeting was called and presided over by P. E. Lipscomb, secretary-treasurer of the Atwater Improvement association.

Officers of the new political club will be William Hurley, president; A. Larsen, vice-president, and William H. Davis, secretary. A campaign committee, headed by Mr. Lipscomb and including Attorney H. L. Brigham and George Daniels, was also named.

In his talk Mr. Wardlaw pledged himself to fight for better and cheaper transportation facilities for Atwater Park, better drinking water for the district, street improvements, and flood control measures. He explained his plan for more rapid transportation for the San Fernando valley and for elevated street car tracks along Glendale boulevard. The speaker urged that money for improvement of boulevards like Los Feliz road come from the general fund of the city rather than from property owners in an assessment district.

J. H. Grimes, representing the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce and George Daniels of Atwater Park also spoke in behalf of Mr. Wardlaw. Mr. Lipscomb announced that the Wardlaw-for-Council club will meet again next Tuesday night at the Shugart building, corner of Glendale boulevard and Garden avenue.

Mr. Wardlaw will again address residents of the district at the regular meeting of the Atwater Improvement association Monday night. An invitation to Mr. Wardlaw to address the meeting was extended last night, following the political gathering at the Shugart building. A large attendance is expected at the Improvement association meeting when nominations for officers for the coming year will be made.

Protest Street Condition

Indignant property owners in the vicinity of Tyburn street, where that thoroughfare was recently torn up for installation of sewer mains, registered their second protest against the unsafe condition in which the street has been left today. Just following the laying of the sewer mains, heavy rains caused bad washouts along the street. These remain at the present time, no further work to fill the ruts and gullies having been done to date, despite one vigorous protest on the part of property owners.

Today the Board of Public Works was called upon to act immediately in the matter. A communication sent to the board sets forth that the street is a menace to life and safety at nights and that from four to six automobiles become helplessly stuck in the muddy ruts nightly, having to be hauled out by obliging residents in the section.

Move to New Location

The Empire Lighting Fixtures Co., formerly the Los Angeles Electrical Construction Co., commenced today to move stock into the new location of the concern on Glendale boulevard near Garden avenue. The electrical company will move its entire plant and stock from its two Los Angeles factories and will be ready for formal opening about May 5, it was announced. The electrical concern has erected an up-to-date two-story factory and display room in Atwater Park. Over 750 different fixtures will be displayed in the sales department at all times.

Atwater Baptist Church

"Men in the Process of Making" will be the morning topic of Rev. M. Grant Nelson at the Atwater Baptist church, Sunday. At the night service, Victor Johnson, president of the Young People's Union, will speak especially to the young people of the church. His topic will be "God's Love Story."

GLENDALE URGES TOURS BY BUS

Glendale Chamber Secretary Explains Advantages Of Bus Tours

An explanation of why Glendale, widely advertised as the city is, does not reap a larger percentage of permanent residents from the annual tourist crop of Southern California is believed to be seen in the fact that none of the many sight-seeing auto bus tours, operated out of Los Angeles daily include Glendale in their itinerary.

Chamber of Commerce records show that excellent results are obtained in efforts of that body to bring easterners to Glendale to live, if the parties can be acquainted with advantages in Glendale before they make the trip to some other part of our famed Southern California. That little or no results are obtained from solicitation among persons already visiting in the south is also shown by these records.

Seeking to ascertain the reason for this, officials of the Chamber of Commerce have come to the conclusion that thousands of tourists, looking around for a place to locate, are shown every other part of the Southland by sight-seeing busses but the Jewel City of the San Fernando valley.

Appeal to Be Made

An effort to influence bus companies to arrange their touring trips so that patrons will be brought to Glendale and other neighboring towns, will be made by the chamber in the near future, Secretary Howard I. Wood said today.

"Glendale has many places of interest that will interest visitors and influence them in choosing here a permanent location in Southern California," Mr. Wood said. "When easterners decide to come west and make their homes here, they think of certain things. They want adequate school and church facilities near at hand. They want to locate in a clean residential city, one which is progressive and one that is not too far from Los Angeles. These attributes have made Glendale what she is today, yet thousands of tourists, looking for permanent home places here, are unaware of the fact that Glendale embodies all these qualities in a manner offered in probably no other Southern California city. We believe the main reason so many thousands go on, blissfully ignorant of the advantages of Glendale is that other cities are 'sold" on the strength of these auto bus tours, which are so tremendously popular with visitors."

Canyon Country Club Plans Sunday Concert

REALTY ORGAN HAS REVIEW OF LAWS

May Issue Of State Journal Contains Rehearsal Of Recent Legislation

The May issue of the California realtors' state journal, California Real Estate, is now on the press. This month it features a complete review of the recent legislative session. Not only has it covered real estate bills, the state secretary Glenn D. Willaman, decared, but it also contains a full and impartial report of the important measures of a general nature. This work has been compiled at the state association offices in Sacramento, with the assistance of Gil A. Cowan, of The Glendale Evening News staff, Glendale, who has been the magazine correspondent at the capital throughout the entire session.

"The California Real Estate association maintained headquarters at the capital during the second half of the session," the state secretary announced before his return to Los Angeles. "We have the pleasure of reporting the adoption of the three important association measures, including the research and publication measure which Assemblyman Howard W. Davis of Los Angeles was the sponsor, together with other assemblymen forming the real estate group, of the passage of the real estate department amendments which bring business chance brokers under the act, and which also require the solicitors of prospects for realty offices to carry a license, and which also reduces the penalty for selling realty without a license to that of a misdemeanor.

Good Support

"Practically every measure supported by the association's legislative committee at this session has been passed.

"Virtually every measure which the association opposed was defeated, or was amended to meet the wishes of the association.

"Little or no new legislation was passed affecting real estate subdivisions. Many such measures were introduced but they were successfully opposed.

"It is an interesting commentary on the proposed subdivision laws that some parts of the state would favor some of the bills, while other boards in other sections would oppose.

"There seems to be a demand for some new constructive subdivision legislation, and the state association legislative committee recommends that such legislation be studied for the next two years and then introduced as a statewide measure.

"The state association considers the most effective work of the year has been, however, the assurances from the state government that the Real Estate department would have the use of a far larger proportion of the moneys paid in by the brokers and salesmen for enforcement.

Commissionership

"The association regrets the resignation of Commissioner T. Keiser, who has made a very successful and popular real estate commissioner.

"As an organization, and through our boards, we have recommended to the governor that all other things being equal, we believed the real estate interests would appreciate the naming of a real estate man to be the new commissioner."

While the gas tax and reapportionment furnished head line debates at this session, the state secretary declared that the question of the conservation of water as affecting the state made its appearance in many important bills, and also the question of preserving the forests which are the watersheds. He believes the water issue will become more intense at each session for the state is filling up steadily.

One of the important developments of the legislative years is the determination of the state association to continue its enrollment of all ethical real estate dealers, including the salesmen.

Another feature is to add an association attorney who will be the general counsel and who will represent the organization in studying measures affecting real estate.

Besides the association, effective work and oc-operation in legislative matters at Sacramento, was rendered to the business of real estate by the legislative representatives of the San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Sacramento, San Jose, Pasadena, and other boards. The legislative work of the association was in general charge of the chairman, Freeman H. Bloodgood, whose comments and opinions have been given in written form and will be available for the next committee.

State Conditions

"California is looking her best," the state secretary declared. "I have visted nearly all boards in the northern and central jurisdiction. The heavy rains this year have made splendid crops and good pasture everywhere. This will be a big year, and one canner at Sacramento alone estimated the fruit crops of that port at $25,000,000 or $5000 a car for 5000 carloads.

"In the San Joaquin valley the Merced irrigation project costing $10,000,000 will be in service within a year. The Stanislaus dams are furnishing a plenteous supply of water. Fresno, Tulare, Madera and Kern counties are moving for water conservation.

"San Francisco is completing her Hetch Hetchy water supply. The cities of Oakland and Berkeley are moving for the Mokelumne water supply to meet their rapidly growing population demands.

"Crop prospects in the Santa Clara valley are bright. Cities on the peninsula are booming solidly.

"Returning southward, we find real estate conditions south of the Tehachapi are improving steadily. The newspaper advertisements are an index to the condition of real estate. A growing volume is being noted in the press.

"California is in for another good year, and I believe the crop output will be materially increased. Last year the total value of farm and field crops was nearly $370,000,000.

"We are getting up an All-California train of our members and their friends to carry the story, the glorious story of the soundness of California real estate investments, to the Detroit convention of the national association."

Employes of the local telephone company motored to Pasadena last night for an entertainment program sponsored by the District Telephone association, including Pasadena, Alhambra and Glendale. The big Chautauqua tent at South Orange and west Harvard streets, is proving a real entertainment center, crowds of Glendalians and residents of nearby communities attending the various programs being offered.

This afternoon Oney Fred Sweet, writer, lecturer, philosopher and former newspaper writer, told the Chautauquans how it feels to stand "In the Other Fellow's Shoes." Sharing honors with Mr. Sweet was the Baughman-Pefferle duo. Thelma Pefferle is both a clever character reader and talented soprano, while Harriet Baughman is cornetist, pianist and reader. These young women will entertain again tonight, before the lecture by Dr. George O. Fallis on "The Problem of World Peace."

Glendale people will hear Dr. Fallis with great interest. He was pastor of Canadian Memorial church, Vancouver, B. C. During the World war he was chaplain overseas, winning the commission of colonel. His plea is for a better universal undertaking in his solution of the problem that the world faces today.

No Sunday Program

There will be no Chautauqua programs on Sunday.

Monday will bring some brilliant features. There will be the junior Chautauqua in the morning. In the afternoon Roseith Knapp Breed, humorist, character portrayer and dramatic interpreter, will give a program. Mrs. Breed works without wig or paint, making her costume changes on the stage. She tells a delightful story and combines keenest humor and satire with pathos in a superbly artistic manner.

The big feature of Monday will be the presentation at night of "The Mikado," popular Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, under the direction of May Valentine. The presentation will be with full stage equipment and elaborate settings. A. W. Cannon will sing the tenor role of Nanki-Poo, while Miss Grace Bernhardt will appear as Yum Yum. The ridiculously funny story around which the composers wrote their tuneful and catchy music never grows old.

Minister to Discuss 'Topsy-Turvy' World

Rev. H. H. Moon, pastor of Christian and Missionary Alliance, will speak on the subject, "Why Are Things Topsy-Turvy in the World?" Sunday night, at the Gospel tabernacle, corner of South Louise and East Chestnut streets. Rev. Moon will seek to show, firstly, the cause and, secondly, the remedy. Discussing the subject, Rev. Moon says.

"The thinking men and women of the world today are asking each other what the unrest and unsettled conditions of things which they see on every hand mean. The wars and rumors of wars, the unsettled business conditions, the murders and holdups on every hand, the crowded divorce courts, the open violations of the eighteenth amendment and kindred unnatural conditions are causing people to wonder what is the cause and what is the solution of it all."

Rabbi Schreiber Will Discuss Sermon Mount

The question as to whether or not the sayings contained in the Sermon on the Mount were original with Jesus is of more than passing interest and tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock Rabbi Emanuel Schreiber, Ph. D., an eminent Jewish scholar, will speak at the Hollywood Unitarian church, corner of Fountain and Fuller streets, Hollywood, on "The Sources of the Sermon On the Mount." Dr. Schreiber is the author of several notable and important critical books, has been the editor of several Jewish periodicals and has devoted many years to scriptural research. The church is four blocks west of La Brea avenue and one block south of Sunset boulevard.

MISSIONARIES TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Glendale Federation Plans Semi-Annual Session At Tropico Church

Glendale federation, Women's Missionary societies, will hold the semi-annual meeting next Wednesday, at Tropico Presbyterian church. Officers will be elected at the morning session. Present federation officers are: Mrs. Z. L. Hesse, president; Mrs. Emily Kopp, vice-president; Mrs. R. W. Mottern, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Paul Hoffman, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Levi Chubbock of First Congregational church will have charge of devotionals in the morning and Rev. A. E. Cook, missionary from India, will conduct devotional service at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. B. M. Colburn formerly a teacher in the colored schools of the south, will speak of her work there. Mrs. W. J. Wanless, missionary from India will speak at 2 o'clock on work among the lepers in India.

Special musical numbers will be arranged by Mrs. R. D. Jones. Women's organizations from twelve Glendale churches will be represented at the federation meeting. Luncheon will be served at noon by women of Tropico Presbyterian church. An offering to be taken will be used for leper work in the United States.

Veterans In Favor of Pasadena Convention

Sentiment favoring the holding of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. department convention in Pasadena, was enthusiastically voiced yesterday at the meeting of N. P. Banks post and W. R. C. at the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue. There were over 125 men and women present yesterday for the luncheon and afternoon program.

Features of the afternoon were entertainment by the drum corps from the Pasadena post, and playing by a most unusual musical organization. The latter organization appeared unexpectedly, led by a comrade 82 years old, playing the bones. Each member was peculiarly dressed and playing such instruments as camouflaged coffee pots, meat choppers and other kitchen utensils. Mrs. R. S. Turner announced the various numbers. Patriotic tales were also a part of the afternoon's program.

Mr. and Mrs. James to Give Radio Program

Mr. and Mrs. Harry James, Glendale residents, will be heard over the radio tonight in a dialogue, written by Mr. James, "It's Liable to Happen in Any Family." They will take part in the program arranged by Howard L. Brown of Glendale, district manager for phonographs and records for the Brunswick Co., and broadcast from 8 to 9 o'clock from KNX. In addition, there will be music by Abe Lyman's orchestra, incidental solos, selections by the Harmony quartet of Glendale, and a monologue by Mr. James.

CAR STOLEN

An automobile owned by Carl Fleckenstein, Burbank, was stolen from Harvard street near South Brand boulevard, where it was parked late yesterday, according to a report to the police today.

HEALING SERVICE CLOSING SUNDAY

Evangelist McConnell Says Four-Weeks' Revival Very Successful

After four weeks of meetings, Evangelist McConnell will close his revival services in the tent, North Glendale avenue, tomorrow night. During the warmer weather there have been good attendances, and much good resulted from the meetings.

Tonight will be the last of the divine healing services, when the sick will be prayed for. There will be three services tomorrow at 11 o'clock in the morning, and in the afternoon Mr. McConnell will speak on that much-debated subject, "Do All Speak With Tongues?" At night the subject will be "What Is the Unpardonable Sin?"

Mr. McConnell is a clear and logical speaker, and has ability to handle difficult questions with clearness.

Daily Greeting to News Readers

IN REAL LIFE—
The hero seldom recognizes himself as a hero.
The sinner is not always gorgeously gowned.
The good are seldom entirely good nor the bad entirely bad.
The greatest thrills come through doing our best work.
The farmers are not all rubes nor the city men all slickers.
The actors do not waste much time in posing their emotions.
The greatest heroes are often found among the plainest people.

HOSPITALITY GOOD ADVERTISING

There has been much discussion by various organizations in Glendale and elsewhere as to the best way of advertising the community. Some favor publicity in eastern newspapers and magazines, while others think a less expensive method is to reach the people who are already in Southern California.

Communities in the vicinity of Los Angeles are fortunate in that hundreds of visitors come and look them over every year without any definite invitation from the community. The best and cheapest way of advertising, then, is to entertain these people well, treat them right and show them the kind of a community they would like to have for their own home town. L. H. Wilson, in a recent communication to the Glendale Evening News, called attention to a state of affairs which Mr. Wilson rightly believes constitutes an emergency.

Visitors are coming to Southern California this summer by the thousands and thousands. Why advertise for people to come here when they are coming in swarms and droves? One hundred and fifty thousand Shriners are expected, the kind of men we want for citizens. They are coming from every corner of the country and many of them will, without doubt, bring their wives and families with them. If they are well treated, every one of these Shriners will be a booster, an animated advertisement for Southern California. And in addition to the Shriners more than a score of other organizations will hold national conventions in Los Angeles this summer and fall.

We are firm believers in all kinds of advertising, but we think that money spent to invite and bring as many as possible of the Shriners and other convention visitors to Glendale and then show them the city and give them a good time will go further and pay better than any other kind of community advertising at the present time. The people are coming to our very threshold, many of them are planning to sojourn within our gates. It only remains to show them a little open-hearted hospitality. The problem is not to get the people here. It is to make them want to stay or come back. What more could we ask?

COMMUNITY CHARACTER

That a city has personality, and that its character and reputation must be good if it is to attract the best people and establish itself permanently, is emphasized by Roger W. Babson, well-known financial expert, in a warning to Miami, Florida. He says:

"Unless Miami watches its step and keeps clean it may suffer collapse. The people of Miami should study the history of New Orleans, Saratoga and similar sporting cities. The policy of giving people what they want pays for only a little while. It is a boomerang in the end. It ultimately drives out the best people and the town is left, a fallen woman."

A boom that results from the sporty, money-spending element may bring temporary prosperity to a city. Times are flush, the lights are bright, money is free. But the town soon comes to have the same character as those who frequent it and the home-seeking element leaves it or avoids it, not expecting to find there conditions favorable for bringing up families.

Free and easy life in the community does not tend to create a home atmosphere. "Easy come, easy go," speeds up certain lines of business for a time, but it doesn't create a healthy or permanent business condition.

While Glendale's growth created a nation-wide sensation, there was nothing of the nature of a boom about it. It was not due to the influx of the sporting element, or to the proximity of the race track or the rum fleet. Glendale is built upon a safe and stable foundation. Glendale has grown because the city has offered conditions that are attractive to the home-seeker who is the real community builder.

OUR GOVERNMENT STABLE

The world war subjected the governments of the participating nations to a severe test. The old empires of Germany, Russia and Austria went down and gave place to governments republican in form. England saw the rise of a labor government, since overthrown. Italy has a dictator, and France has had presidents and premiers following each other in rapid succession. It is significant that the United States among the nations engaged in war has seen its government the least changed in form and spirit. There has been no revolution, no great change in this country. Our government is organized much the same as it has been for more than a hundred years. The only explanation is that our government is, on the whole, the best adapted to the conditions and demands of modern life.

Industrial conditions in this country and in Europe since the war are compared by the Minneapolis Journal, as follows: "A quiet, orderly, constructive industrial revolution has been under way in the United States, unlike what has taken place in Europe. One result of the war in other countries has been to reduce the size of the middle class and to increase the rich on one hand and the proletariat on the other. In this country the tendency is in the other direction. It involves the increase of the middle class and the disappearance of workers who earn barely enough to support themselves. The workers in this country are constantly securing a larger share in the control of industry in the best ways possible—through savings and the accumulation of investment and capital."

ASIATIC MARKET FOR AMERICAN GOODS

It is said that in the past eight years China has jumped from 28th to 5th place among the world buyers of American-made goods. Asia is coming earlier and oftener into American markets to purchase. Europe would like this growing trade with Asia and is watching us jealously. America's hope to win and keep it is not through the Panama canal, but through the ports of the Pacific. Eastern manufacturers are awakening to the unlimited possibilities of Asiatic markets for goods manufactured on this coast. The time is not far distant when Southern California will be the center of traffic between this country and the markets of the far east.

Meanwhile the problem of Southern California is not to find a market for our products, but to build enough factories to supply from this point the things that ever-increasing market will absorb.

If you have the right of way you feel reasonably safe unless the other fellow happens to be driving a truck.

FORE!

The Three Oranges

By DR. FRANK CRANE

When a juggler keeps three oranges going he has to watch his work or he will drop one of them to the ground.

The three oranges that all must keep in the air are wife, work and religion.

When we neglect what we are doing the tendency is to drop one or more of these.

When a man becomes too occupied with his work and neglects his wife his home is in danger.

When his entire attention is given to his wife and his work, and his religion is neglected, he is apt to lose his moral background. No substitute for morals other than religion has ever been discovered.

Over attention to any one of these oranges tends to imperil the others.

Democracy is hard and monarchy is easy simply because with all liberty comes increased peril. I think it was Elihu Root who said that democracy is always in danger.

Each of the three things mentioned, wife, work and religion, is necessary to a man and it is necessary that he give to each one his personal attention.

The experiment has been extensively tried, especially in the Orient, of having a wife selected for one by parents or relatives. Much criticism against this scheme has been based upon the fact that a certain amount of romance is needed in every man's life. If he does not find it in his wife he will seek for it elsewhere. Hence the experiment of marriage arranged by someone other than the individual tends to increase the irregularity of living. When romance is shut out of the door it comes in by the window.

In the same way a man's usable religion is that which he gains from his own experience. It seems much easier to have somebody else tell you what to do and to think, but all religion that is founded upon what somebody else tells you instead of what you discover yourself has a tendency to become hard and formal.

There are some people who are fortunately endowed and who do not have to work. That is one orange they do not have to keep in the air. The absence of work, however, is hardly beneficial to the favored classes.

It is good for a man to attend to these three things himself. The neglect of any one of them tends to imperil the safety of the others and of the individual himself.

Horoscope

This is read as a quiet uneventful day by astrologers who find that there is no strong planetary government. While the Sun and Venus are mildly benefic aspect, Jupiter and Mercury are adverse.

One of the signs of the times appears to indicate that women will be more inclined to worship success than ever before.

There appears to be an aspect making for ambition that seeks power through wealth and for that reason love may be often flouted while the configuration prevails.

This is a rule under which women should seek positions in high places, for they should benefit greatly from this aspect.

Weddings today have the forecast of much material prosperity and there should be harmony of interest.

Theaters and musical enterprises are well directed and it appears that the summer will be a period of feverish desire for entertainment.

Actors and actresses have the prognostication of a season beginning in the autumn of 1925 which will be marvelously profitable for the best of them.

Under this direction of the stars there must be dexterity and experience in any calling, if one would come near attainment. The possibility of bluffing is nil as long as this configuration prevails.

Although newspapers may publish startling dispatches regarding certain business interests there is to be a great prosperity.

Astonishing fluctuations in market reports may be expected before the middle of May, it is foretold.

The Moon in Gemini inclines toward dual impulses and may cause lack of decision in important matters.

Children are to be subjects of governmental attention and will benefit from the planetary government of the remaining months of the year.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of rather a calm and uneventful year. They should be careful about writings of every sort, especially contracts.

Children born on this day should be able to win success in any line of work. These subjects of Taurus are usually most valuable as confidential employes.

Today's Poem

She is not fair to outward view,
As many maidens be;
Her loveliness I never knew
Until she smiled on me.
O then I saw her eye was bright,
A well of love, a spring of light.

But now her looks are coy and cold,
To mine they ne'er reply,
And yet I cease not to behold
The love-light in her eye;
Her very frowns are fairer far
Than smiles of other maidens are.

—H. COLERIDGE.

Who's Who

Uncle Sam's new minister to China, John Van Antwerp MacMurray, is regarded as an authority on the issues in the Far East and is especially qualified for this post since he has made a special study of the questions pending as a member of the Washington conference. His elevation marks another step in the policy of promoting career men which has been followed in every instance thus far by the Coolidge administration.

Mr. MacMurray was born in Schenectady, N. Y., October 6, 1881. He graduated from Princeton in 1902 and was appointed secretary of legation and consul general at Bangkok in May, 1907.

Since then Mr. MacMurray has served in Russia, China and Japan and as chief of the Far Eastern division of the state department, becoming an assistant secretary of state in 1924.

MacMurray succeeds Dr. Jacob Gould Sherman, promoted to the United States ambassadorship at Berlin.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

CLARK KINNAIRD

A Good Gentleman who fills one of these columns for the newspapers advises his customers to read the Great Philosophers — among whom he mentions Plato, Rousseau, Aristotle, Socrates. It seems to me that he attaches too pompous an importance to the value of philosophy to the ordinary man, that is, the average man.

For a long time the question has been asked, Can philosophy bring any blessing to mankind?

Cicero, for instance, would have answered in the affirmative, because he once wrote, "O, philosophy, life's guide! O searcherout of virtue and expeller of vices. What could we and every age of men have been without thee? Thou hast produced cities; thou hast called men scattered about the social enjoyment of life."

* * *

But a negative answer would come from August Strindberg, among others.

"Anyone who reads a short history of philosophy, and observes how one system replaces and refutes another, must be inclined to say, 'Surely it is time to make an end of this drive!'

"For the whole system of philosophy proves that thought cannot solve these problems, or that they cannot be solved by constructing a system of philosophy.

"The few philosophers, on the other hand, who have limited themselves to reflections on the variegated medley of life as seen in man, politics and nature, have been of some use, but they are hardly counted philosophers."

* * *

Most people seem to believe that all whic his difficult to understand is deep, but it is not so.

What is difficult to understand is immature, vague and often false.

The highest wisdom is simple, and goes through the brain straight into the heart.

* * *

It was Pascal who observed that to ridicule philosophy is truly philosophical.

Timely Views

"Why women steal is one of the most perplexing problems confronting modern society," declares Judge J. J. Freschi, of the Court of Special Sessions, in New York City, who has heard the intimate inside stories of thousands of shoplifters.

In a period of about five years a small group of department stores in New York secured confessions from approximately 14,000 women. There were thousands of others, it is said, who escaped detection.

While many offenders were from the less conspicuous walks of life, it is evident from the comment of Judge Freschi in the current issue of Hearst's International Cosmopolitan that even members of New York's "four hundred" were found among the thieves.

"Publication of that list of offenders would shake the foundation of New York society," declares Judge Freschi. "These 14,000 were set free only because they were first offenders. Their friends knew them as good wives and mothers, respected girls in business and school, women in the professions, educational and religious work. And each of these 14,000 women is going through life with a signed confession hanging over her—a confession which will some day come to light to confound her or her loved ones if she steals a second time."

"Shoplifting, or kleptomania, or whatever you wish to call the crime of stealing from shops and department stores, is almost exclusively a woman's crime," says the Judge. Regardless of how well concealed, vanity in some form is the motivating influence back of most shoplifting.

"Take for instance the case of the woman at the bar. She is a young woman of culture and breeding. She has health, youth, intelligence and good looks. On the wall of her bedroom back in the middle-western town where she was born hangs a bachelor of arts degree from a well-known university. Next June she will receive a master of arts degree from the university where she is now doing postgraduate work.

"She has just pleaded guilty to the charge of shoplifting. She is not a professional thief. She's just one of the alarmingly large army of women who steal; a victim of the three handmaidens of shoplifting — Desire, Opportunity and Impulse."

Judge Freschi's comments on why women steal make interestng reading for the student of psychology and criminology.

100 SPEAKERS PLANNED AT SESSION

National Realty Convention In Detroit, June 23-26 To Hear Notables

More than 100 speakers, chosen because of their nationally known achievements in actual real estate practice or because of the unique contribution they have made to real estate thought, will lead discussions covering the whole field of present real estate development in the United States and Canada which will make up the program of the eighteenth annual convention of the National association of real estate boards. The convention, aimed to focus the various trends which are rapidly giving the vocation of the Realtor a professional foundation, will be held in Detroit, Michigan, June 23-26.

In addition to meetings of representatives of the association's 505 member real estate boards and of its seven divisions made up of specialists in real estate finance, home building and subdividing, industrial property, farm lands, property management, real estate brokerage, and real estate organization, the convention will include special national conferences as follows:

1 A national conference on real estate education. This will draw together deans of the thirty-eight leading colleges and universities now having courses in real estate, instructors in real estate, courses conducted under the auspices of real estate boards of 126 cities, and members of real estate board committees on education and educational requirements.

2 A second annual conference on real estate license laws. This will be conducted by the national association of real estate license law officials. Joseph K. Brittain, of Chicago, president of that association, will preside.

3 The annual meeting of the national board of presidents and secretaries of state associations. This meeting will discuss such questions as the best way to conduct the legislative work which is so important a part of the responsibility of a real estate association, the activities such an association should undertake, and the question of whether there should be organized special divisions within a state association. Bert J. Baker, president of the Michigan Real Estate association, and chairman of the board of presidents and secretaries, will preside.

"Evolving an American Domestic Architecture" will be one of the topics which the realtors will take up at the general sessions of the convention. Frank Lloyd Wright, of Spring Green, Wisconsin, will show from the point of view of an architect the extent of which American cities are creating a distinct new type of home architecture.

Preston M. Nolan, of Chicago, nationally known appraisal expert, will speak at the opening general session on "The Appraisal of Real Estate."

S. W. Straus of New York, president of the S. W. Straus Co., will address the convention at the second general session on "Real Estate Mortgage Bonds and What They Have Done for Real Estate."

C. C. Nichols, who as vice-president of the Schulte Co., New York, has a large experience in analyzing real estate values in various cities from the point of view of chain store requirements, will speak on "A Comparison of Real Estate Values in Various Cities."

Triple Realty Boards Decide To Join State

The Associated Realty boards of San Bernardino, made up of the boards at Ontario, San Bernardino, Upland and Redlands, has voted to join the California Real Estate association as a board. They plan also to join the national association in the same way, and to make realtors of the brokers in the outlying parts of the county by having them affiliate with the San Bernardino association without dues, but by paying the state and national dues.

The association has inaugurated the multiple listing system. At each weekly luncheon of the association President H. P. D. Kingsbury calls for listings in triplicate which members want broadcasted. These listings are sent to the president of each local board in the association for distribution or to those members of his board who were present at the meeting.

RESTRICTIONS EXPLAINED IN REALTY

This Element Is Particularly Applied as Essential In Hillside Tracts

Restrictions are of greater importance than any other one thing in a subdivision. Restrictions make or mar the home surroundings. Every buyer of a lot or home should investigate carefully the restrictions of the tract before he buys. Be sure the restrictions are right, and, be sure they protect you.

On hillside subdivisions restrictions are doubly important. A valuation restriction in a level subdivision may prove sufficient but on a hillside tract it is sadly deficient. In fact, a valuation restriction on a hillside property is of minor importance—all it need do is prohibit excessively small houses.

Roof restrictions are most important of all in a hillside tract where each home is on a level above its neighbor and each resident looks out over the roofs of the houses below his own.

View, Big Asset

View is the aspiration of every hillside home builder. He may seek many of the other advantages to be had by building upon a hillside, but primarily he builds there to enjoy the view. To enjoy the view provided by nature he must be sure it is not spoiled by the hand of man. Flat roofs on the houses below him detract from the beauty of his view. Flat roofs in the foreground of the picture nature provides him are like great ink blots on a beautiful painting. He cannot enjoy that which he sought—the view—with the constant irritation of ugly flat roofs immediately below him.

Flat roofs must be prohibited. How can this be best and most surely accomplished? To specify in tract restrictions a certain type of architecture is to limit unnecessarily the expression of the personal tastes of the home builder. He may have his heart set upon a different style of architecture that is equally desirable and equally free from any objectionable features.

Tract Owner Concerned

There is one safe way for all in this momentous matter. The one person most interested in the right solution of this important question is the owner of the tract. His interests are as many times greater than the interests of an individual lot purchaser as there are lots in the tract.

Provide in the restrictions on a hillside property that all roofs be covered with shingles or tile and you avoid the use of composition roofs. Then, to further clinch the certainty that everything will be right, and that wonderful view will always remain unblotted by ugly flat roofs, provide that all plans must be approved by the seller. He then can, and will, keep the flat roofs out and protect the interests of all purchasers.

On hillside tracts the drives all wind along the gentle contour of the hill; disclosing to view now a dozen homes and again only a few. Some houses are on a level with the drive, others are above and still others on a lower level.

Size and Cost

There is very little opportunity for drawing comparisons as to size and cost. They appear in the line of vision of the motorist, an ever beautiful variation, breaking into and thereby enhancing the distant view of nature's handiwork. The motorist and the resident alike look out over the roofs of the many homes below their drive. It cannot be emphasized too strongly that all these roofs should present

OUTLOOK FOR SUGAR CROP IS GOOD

Fruit Canning This Year Seen Unprecedented For Housewives

By J. C. ROYLE

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The delicious aroma of preserving fruit will arise from the kitchens of America in unparalleled volume this year. For the American housewife makes few mistakes in her judgment of markets and the season is opening with sugar conditions better and more stable than for a long time. Weather conditions in general throughout the country have been remarkably favorable for fruit and there are excellent prospects for good yields.

The contrast as to the sugar is particularly sharp as compared with two years ago, when for no apparent reason, eastern refiners of Cuban sugars skyrocketed prices to such an extent that the entire country became alarmed. Housewives formed organizations to curtail consumption and the president directed an inquiry to be made. This inquiry developed that the Cuban-American growing and refining interests had complete control of the domestic sugars, cane and beet, raised in the United States and its island possessions had become exhausted. The high prices continued until the new domestic crops became available.

Domestic Production

Increase in domestic production in the last two years has exerted a steadying influence and there have been few wide fluctuations of price. These crops are steadily increasing and apparently have sufficient weight to prevent a runaway market.

In addition, Cuban production, according to recognized experts, probably will reach a total outturn of about 4,900,000 tons. Production in the island up to the first of this month showed an increase over 1924 of 437,139 tons. Stocks at Cuban ports the middle of this month considerably exceeded 960,000 tons. Western beet sugar producers are now quoting 5.60 cents a pound, or a tenth of a cent under eastern refiners.

Louisiana Sugar

The Louisiana sugar industry now is changing for the better and it had need, for it was in such desperate case that it almost disappeared. Bankers who had to take over plantations, and suddenly found themselves in the sugar business, are still suffering from a bad attack of nerves.

In the old days the Louisiana planters were the aristocrats of farmers, but nonetheless a farmer, since his problems were largely agriculture. He planted the cane, harvested it, carried it to his little mill, pressed out the juice, boiled the syrup and sold the brown sugar. But after the civil war the labor problem became difficult and processes more complex.

The planter found the sugar house, not his fields, was taking most of his time. He suddenly was forced to become a manufacturer and salesman although he still had to produce his raw material. He could not afford to hire executives for the various phases of the industry. Leaks developed, especially in production of cane. Fields became infected with disease and production dropped. Last year the average Louisiana production was 7.9 tons of cane per acre, or only three tons more than seed requirements. It takes fourteen tons to the acre to pay for cultivating and harvesting a crop.

Disease Resisting

The industry has been saved by the development of disease-resisting cane that has been proved capable in the Terre Bonne section, of yielding from thirty to forty tons an acre. Sufficient seed from these varieties will be raised to plant the entire belt within two or three years.

For the first time the planters have commenced to co-operate in hiring experts to handle the different phases of sugar production. This is the best guarantee that the Louisiana sugar industry has come back.

The low prices of sugar this year have caused most of the agitation over sugar tariffs to disappear. The political phases of the subject still remain, however, and apparently will continue as long as the major political parties have opposing tariff views. Louisiana sugar men say, nevertheless, that a cut in tariff in favor of the Cuban producers now would undo their work and doom the industry.

As matters stand, the beet sugar interests and the cane men of the island possessions are prosperous, prices are well within the range of all and housewives are preparing for a busy preserving season.

Penalty for 'Brokers' Gets Court's Okay

Provision of the real estate license law of New York that an unlicensed person who demands and receives compensation for his services as a real estate broker is liable to a penalty in the sum of four times the amount so received has just been upheld by a Kings county court decision.

Incidentally the court stressed again the constitutionality of the license law, citing with approval a decision recently made by the appellate division, second department, holding the law constitutional, and pointing out, after a general review of license legislation that "what makes for the general welfare is a matter of legislative judgment, and judicial review is limited to power, and excludes policy."

The penalty, quadrupling the fee levied, according to the New York law, is payable to the person victimized by the non-licensed broker.

COLLEGE WOMEN HOST TO PUPILS

High School Girls Guests At Informal Tea In Tuesday Club

By MADELINE SMITH

As guests of the College Women's club of Glendale, about seventy-five senior girls of the high school were entertained at an informal tea Saturday, April 18, at the Tuesday Afternoon club. Several of the club members dressed in caps and gowns were on the reception committee. The girls were escorted to the palm room where Mrs. Frank W. Parr welcomed them.

Preceeding the serving of tea, a program was presented by a local college. A vocal solo was rendered by a student of the college of music, University of Southern California. A play was then given by three U. S. C. girls, which was written and presented by a drama coach of the college.

It was a cleverly written play of a mother and her two daughters. The mother and her eldest daughter after years of saving had become miserly, but the younger daughter had hopes of a visit to New York. How her hopes and plans were realized made an interesting plot.

After the program, several groups were formed representing different colleges. The girls were told features regarding the school in which they were interested.

PROSPERITY IN RECORD FOR BUILDING

New Construction Is Holding Up Remarkably Over Entire Country

NEW YORK, April 25.—Building construction in the cities outside New York continues to hold up remarkably. This is especially noticeable in the south and central west. The work outside the cities has undoubtedly shown a marked increase compared with last year. There is no indication that the volume of building and road work for the year will slump. This tendency is borne out by the fact that contracts for construction let from January 1 to the middle of April in the United States totaled approximately $624,584,000, or $18,968,000 more than for the corresponding period of 1924.

Actual construction work is progressing at extraordinary speed. This is evidenced by the shipments of cement for the first quarter. Cement is one of the most accurate barometers of the building trades, since cement is normally used very shortly after it is shipped. Much of this material is wet and poured within two weeks of receipt by consignees. Shipments for the first quarter totaled 21,456,000 barrels, or slightly more than for the corresponding period last year.

Cement Production

It is true that at this period of the year dealers are stocking up on cement for the early season trade and contractors for road work are putting stocks into storage. But even so, it is the opinion of experts that not more than three weeks normally elapses from the time cement leaves the mill until it is used.

Despite the heavy production, 28,145,000 barrels for the first quarter, mills in general have been running at about 60 per cent of capacity, which is estimated at 180,000,000 barrels per year for the country as a whole. It is evident that there is little likelihood of a cement shortage and that only slight fluctuations in price are to be expected.

The importance of the activity in farm work can be estimated from the fact that 20.6 per cent of the cement consumed goes for miscellaneous farm purposes. Public and comercial building consume 24.9 per cent and paving and highways 24 per cent.

Wage Situation

As the first of May approaches there do not appear to be many wage adjustments in prospect in the building trades. Most crafts seem willing to renew the 1924 scales, although there may be

Dress for Graduation Decided by Students

By MADELINE SMITH

To decide necessary details of dress for the graduation exercises was the main purpose of the meeting of the senior girls held Wednesday in the auditorium of Broadway high. Mary Jo Phillips, president of the senior class, was in charge of the assembly. At a previous meeting the girls voted on dresses of white or pastel shades, and it was found that the majority of the girls preferred white. The girls decided upon several other details at the last meeting.

The maximum amount to be paid for a boughten dress is $35, and if the dress is to be made, the maximum to be paid for material is $25. The dresses are to be from eleven to fifteen inches from the floor. Satin and taffeta materials are barred. White shoes and stockings are to be worn. The girls were told that the announcements for this year's graduation exercises will be nine and one-fourth cents each. The students are to make out a list of the numbers wanted as soon as possible.

EDUCATIONAL MEET PLAN OF REALTY

State Boards To Gather At Luncheon May 23 In L. A. For Confab

The California Real Estate association has issued a call to all the realty boards of the state to send representatives to the statewide educational conferences to be held in the administration building of the University of Southern California, 3551 University avenue, Los Angeles, at a 12 o'clock luncheon and afternoon session, on Saturday, May 23, under the direction of Harrison Lewis of Beverly Hills, chairman of the state educational committee.

The technical and ethical instruction in real estate as given by the University of Southern California in co-operation with the state association has been so well received and has been of such great benefit to the realtors as well as the people of California, that the state educational committee is planning to enlarge the scope of its educational program, plans for which will be laid before the representatives from the various boards at the conference.

Educational Scope

At the present time there are thirty-five cities throughout the state in which the local boards are carrying out the educational program, notwithstanding the fact that scarcely two years has elapsed since this great educational program was first launched.

The following realty boards are holding classes: Bell, Bellflower, Beverly Hils, Downey, Fresno, Glendale, Hermosa Beach, Huntington Park, Bakersfield, Laguna Beach, Long Beach, Madera, Montebello, Monterey Peninsula, Ontario, Santa Ana, Palo Alto, Pasadena, Redlands, Redondo Beach, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego, El Centro, San Pedro, Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz, Santa Monica, Southwest of Los Angeles, Tujunga, Van Nuys, Watts, West Hollywood, Whittier.

The training which the state association in co-operation with the University of Southern California is giving to its members is already showing a marked effect in all the communities in which such training is being given. It is the plan of the state educational committee to continue enlarging its program from year to year until it shall be a part of the curriculum of all the universities of the state.

Canners in the United States are organizing to reduce the variety of tin containers.

HOW YOU CAN SECURE A HOME

Better Homes Bureau Tells How To Finance Your Home Purchase

Do you want to own a home of your own? The Pacific Coast Better Homes Bureau, which is sponsoring Better Homes Week, May 11 to 18, has issued the following instructions for the person wishing to buy a home:

What You Buy and How to Buy It

"In purchasing a home a misstep may be unfortunate, so get the best advice you can, and watch every step. First of all, what you buy is the site and the improvements on it. If a building and loan association or bank loans you money on the property it has a direct financial interest in helping you guard yourself on certain points, such as making sure that there are no old mortgages, no unpaid back taxes or bills for building materials or other claims against the property.

"Be certain your title is clear, or have it insured or guaranteed. Learn of any easements, such as the right of a telephone company to place its poles upon your lot.

"If you make a purchase offer with a cash deposit, include a statement as to whether window shades, stoves and other movable property are included. Risk from loss by fire or elements should be assumed by the owner until the title passes to you.

"Your offer should be dependent on your obtaining a satisfactory loan to finance the proposition, and the ability of the owners to furnish papers to show a good marketable title, free from liens or encumbrances. In other words, d onot bind yourself to the purchase until you are sure of what you are paying for and that you can finance it.

"You must be prepared to pay taxes on your property and possibly special assessments for installation of water, sewerage, electric lights, gas or other public utilities, or street paving and sidewalks. Note what improvements are already made and what additional ones you may have to pay for.

How to Pay for Your Home

"In buying a house and lot you must borrow what you cannot pay in cash. Remember that the more risks you assume, the fewer the lender will have to charge you for. Your promise to pay back what you borrow will be secured by a mortgage or trust on the property. A first mortgage loan on not over one-half or two-thirds of the value of a piece of property is a very safe investment, and the rate of interest should be low. The lender on a second mortgage takes more risk and rates of interest and discounts are higher. If you agree to buy a home without the title passing to you at once, the seller takes less risk, and you may save money.

Where to Get Loans

"There are building and loan associations throughout the country, usually organized to serve the needs of people like yourself, who wish to finance a home. Their plan of weekly or monthly payments, both on principal and for interest, has proved sound from the experience of millions of people as an aid to systematic saving. Loans may often be obtained from savings banks, trust companies, state banks, individuals and trustees for estates.

"Obtaining money on a second mortgage is usually not so easy. Remember that when the owner of a house takes a second mortgage in payment he may plan to sell it for four-fifths or less of its face value and that he probably charges you accordingly.

"Above all, when you start to save for a home do not throw your money into glittering schemes that promise big dividends and the chance to borrow money at 3 per cent or less. The concerns behind such schemes cannot be trusted.

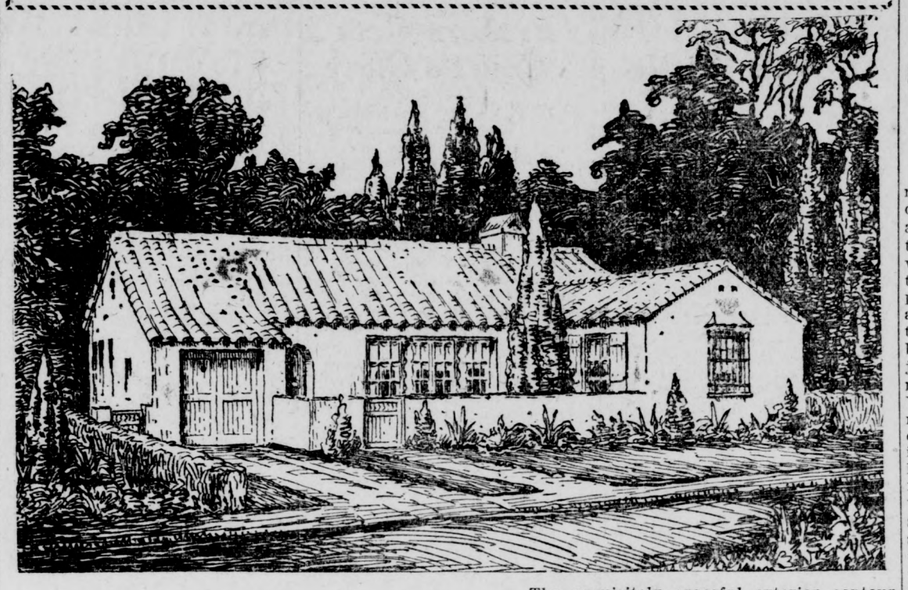
How Much Can You Afford?

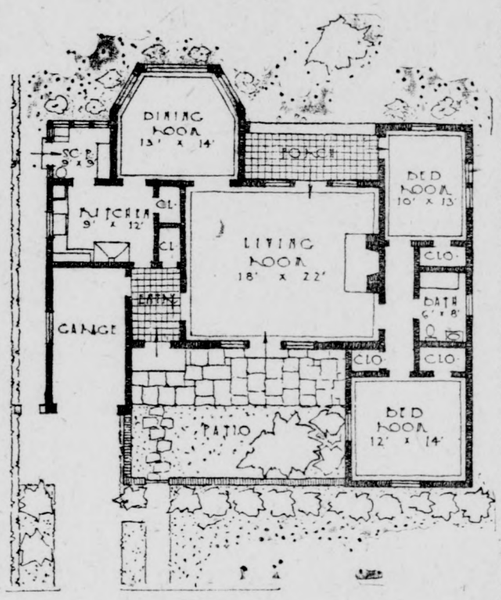
"It is said that a man may own a home worth one and one-half to two and one-half times his annual income, but the payments you make during the first few years after purchasing are what you should pay most attention to. Rent ordinarily requires from 10 to 25 per cent or even more of a family's annual income. In addition to what you ordinarily pay for rent you can devote your customary savings or more to paying off the principal of loans on your home."

ANCIENT KING

WARSAW, April 25.—Negotiations are now under way between the Soviet government and the Polish minister in Moscow to have the body of the last Polish king, Stanislaus August Ponistowski, who died in 1798 in Petrograd and was buried in St. Catherine's cathedral there, transferred to Warsaw.

Charming Spanish Stucco Home





Designed by Pacific Ready-Cut Homes, Inc.—Style 704.

The exquisitely graceful exterior contour of this charming Spanish-California stucco villa makes it all that even the most critical home-planner could possibly wish for. There are five spacious rooms in this house—and so many unusual features and refinements that one will fairly marvel at the lengths to which the designers of this house have gone to make it delightful even in the smallest details. The charming patio at the front with its quaint wooden gate, its shrubs, decorative trees and flower gardens, is an intimate beauty spot which only a home designed along this line would ever have. Back of the patio is a terrace which leads one into the arched front door and directly into the large living room which is 22 feet long and 18 feet wide and which has an unusually beautiful fireplace at one end. Back of the living room is a porch which leads out onto the rear lawn. The two bedrooms—both located on the right side of the house—(having a spacious bathroom between them and a connecting hallway) are flooded with sunshine through the high windows. The unusual dining room is 13 feet by 14 feet and has been placed at the rear of the house in such a manner that half of it juts out into the rear lawn. The kitchen with ample closets and many built-in features, is at the left and rear corner of this house, back of which is a screened-in porch. One of the notable features of this exclusive Pacific Ready-Cut Homes is the placement of the garage. It becomes an integral part of the house and is so built that it can be entered directly through the entry hall at the left of the living room. This is one of several new and exclusive Pacific Ready-Cut Homes which have been designed particularly for those who desire distinctive refinements in a home of extreme beauty. It is known as Style 704.

SASH AND DOORS IMPORTANT ITEM

Necessary Items Should Be Chosen With Care By Home Builder

We, in the sash and door business, says C. S. Jordan of the Glendale Sash and Door Co., are often amazed at the comparatively little thought given to the doors and windows of a house by those about to build. The architecture, floor plan, built-in features, painting and decorating will all receive their proper consideration, while by many, a window is considered just a window, and the desired number ordered without more ado. When we stop to think, we can readily see that the windows and doors of a home are of the utmost importance to the beauty of the home and the comfort of its inmates. When we realize that all who enter or leave the building do so by the doors, that all light, sunshine, air and view of the outside world come to us through the windows, we will realize something of their importance. We often find people when remodeling a building, adding extra windows, but never closing those they already have. Few and small windows are suggestive of jail, while many and large ones suggest air, light, sunshine and home. Sharp angles and ugly corners may be softened and beautified by kindly vines and shrubs, unattractive rooms redecorated and exteriors painted anew; indeed, very much may be changed to improve a building, but a misplaced door or window, if it is to fulfill its mission of usefulness, must be left in plain, very plain sight.

How often we find, in an otherwise artistic home a note of discord in the windows. It may be one member of a family who has chosen a house of Spanish design, insists upon Colonial windows, that has produced the grotesque effect, or it may be one of any number of incongruities in the style or placing of the doors and windows that prove to us that the greatest care should be given when choosing them. We must think of harmony as well as usefulness, for without harmony there is no beauty. There is no reason why those intending building a modest home may not have it as artistic and beautiful in its way as if it were to be a mansion, if he will remember that the windows are the eyes of a house and, as the old lady said to her daughter, "Make folks look at your beautiful eyes, and they won't see your ugly nose." So be sure the eyes of your home are beautiful, then no matter how modest the building, it will be "a joy forever," while the rich neighbor, if he be careless in choosing his doors and windows may spend many thousands of dollars to have in the end, instead of an artistic home, an expensive monstrosity.

Johnny on the Spot Reports Improvement

Johnny-On-the-Spot, the general utility man for the Riverside Lumber Co., 3021 Riverside drive (Los Angeles), reports business is improving to a great extent. In fact, although this lumber concern is but a new one they were compelled to purchase another new auto truck to insure the usual prompt and efficient service for which this establishment has been especially noted since their opening.

The feature of no charge for delivering is a good one, according to the many customers who have recently purchased lumber. It is real service to know that no matter how large the sale is, it will be delivered absolutely free of charge and promptly, too.

What You May Want to Know About Building

Questions addressed to this paper will be answered by the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and indorsed by the Department of Commerce, United States Government. Inclose self addressed envelope for reply.

Q.—I have an old frame house that I believe would be improved in appearance if I had it covered with stucco. How should I go about it to do this? I would like to get out of it as cheaply as possible and still have a good job.

A.—If the walls are not out of plumb you can lath them as they stand and apply stucco immediately. If you wish to straighten up any of the faces or to avoid any gingerbread work or other things of this kind, the walls should be stripped before lathing. Apply lath to the stripping. A little extra furring and lathing may change the whole character of your house without much expense.

Q.—What is the difference between hard and soft woods? Some woods known as soft seem to be quite hard.

A.—Commercial classification distinguishes between hard and soft wood on the basis of whether or not the wood comes from evergreen trees. The evergreen trees bear soft woods and deciduous trees bear hard wood. The temper of the grain has nothing to do with the classification.

Q.—In looking over a house under construction, I saw rows of brick placed on wood beams in several places and was told this was a form of fire stop. Is this an effective method of stopping the spread of fire? Where should the bricks be placed?

A.—This is an effective method of stopping the spread of flames between studs. Unless some form of blocking is used in these places they form flues for fires originating in the basement which may carry fire through the house with great rapidity. The ends of the beams and studs should be cut off by means of blocking. A more extensive method of fire stopping is followed by filling these places with metal lath baskets in which plaster debris, and other incombustible materials are placed. Bricks are sometimes used. If the studs are bridged or crossbraced as they should be this will serve as an effective fire stop.

TUBERCULOSIS

DES MOINES, Ia., April 25.—A medal or badge, or a pin, should be awarded to every "T. B." patient who recovers. This was advocated by Miss Anna Drake of the Iowa Tuberculosis association.

Built-In Features Are Growing Very Popular

Glendale may well be proud of its many industries and among these that show promise and are enlarging each month is the California Built-In Features Co., of which Arthur L. Fryer is manager. This concern is located at 127 North Glendale avenue.

A splendid display is being shown at the factory of a complete kitchen of special built-in-features designed for the modern home. This display consists of sink sections, ample cupboard room, cooler, ironing board, most convenient bread board and bin arrangement yet devised for the housekeeper, a disappearing breakfast table and seats and plenty of drawers.

Mr. Fryer says that his establishment will build any specially designed buffet or built-in feature that a person might want; the concern has specialists to design whatever might be wanted. Suggestions are gladly made to those who want them. The slogan of this company is Sensationally Convenient.

CRUDE OIL DROPS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—A slight reduction in the daily production of California crude is shown in recent reports. State production is running somewhat under 600,000 barrels weekly at present.

WORK IN BUILDING CONTINUES GOOD

New Construction Is Holding Up Remarkably Over Entire Country

Workers in many localities already have contracts with employers extending until April 30, 1926. In twenty-one cities reporting, only two have wage disputes pending. A truce has been declared in the factional dispute between the plasterers and bricklayers here. In Chicago, marble setters, ornamental ironworkers, carpenters and hoisting engineers have been granted an increase of 12½ cents an hour. The supply of labor generally appears sufficient.

The efficiency of workers in the building trades now is at a higher point than at any time since the war. The bonus system, so universally in effect a year ago, has disappeared and the slightly larger labor supply has enabled contractors to pick their men, and this has raised the efficiency of individual workers.

Building Program

There is every probability that the country's building program for this year will entail expenditure of at least five billion dollars. The effect of this activity is bound to be great on the prosperity of the country as a whole. Assurance of building activity in the months ahead will tend to counterbalance to no small degree the forces for reaction operating in other parts of the business structure.

With the building trade artisans, the highest-paid workers of the country, well employed, the buying power of the country will be sustained. Goods will continue to be bought in volume as a result and manufacturers will turn out the goods for the merchants to sell. The effect will be the more widespread, since building activity is so thoroughly distributed this year, instead of being confined to twenty-five or thirty of the larger centers of population.

Hillside Restrictions Are Called Essential

a pleasing appearance, that no flat roofs should be permitted. The only sure way of excluding ugly flat roofs is by reserving to the party most interested in the tract the right to approve all plans.

Before you buy a lot or home in a hillside subdivision investigate thoroughly and be certain there will be no flat roofs built in the tract.

If there remains in your mind any doubt of the wisdom of this article, drive over the higher drives of a subdivsion where you look out over flat roofs and then drive through another subdivision where restrictions forbid flat roofs. Do this before you buy.

AMERICAN HOMES NATION'S WEALTH

Getting The First Start Is Big Step In Owning Home

"The American home is the foundation of our national and individual wellbeing," says President Coolidge. "Its steady improvement is at the same time a test of our civilization and ideals. We need attractive, worthy, permanent homes that lighten the burden of housekeeping. We need homes in which home life can reach its finest level and in which can be reared children and upright citizens."

President Coolidge has a habit of hitting the nail on the head. Home ownership is the bedrock upon which American ideals are formed. It is the backbone of American citizenship, but there is a danger ahead—a danger which is explained by the difference between a house and a home.

Are You a Home Owner?

Only about 45 per cent of the families of the United States own their own homes, according to the most recent report of the census bureau. This average is lower than it was throughout the country a decade ago. It indicates that the number of people owning their own homes is on the decrease. There are many reasons for this, one of which is the automobile. There are those who say that millions of dollars that might have gone into homes have gone into motorcars, and that people prefer to live in a two-room flat and kitchenette and put their savings into a motorcar, with the privileges it brings them, to denying themselves the motorcar and building a house.

There are others who say that the motorcar has made it possible for millions of people to build homes who otherwise might always have gone on paying rent. The motorcar has made the country accessible. People now can live ten, fifteen or twenty miles beyond the city limits, where costs of lots, building and living are usually lower. They can build a little house, plant a garden and enjoy the privileges of the country side and still be within fifteen or twenty minutes of the heart of a big city.

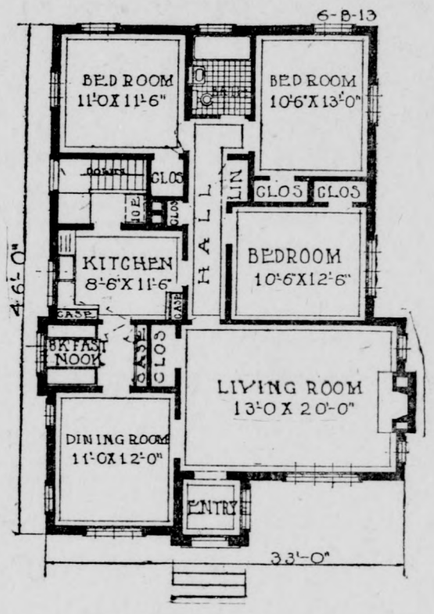
How to Get Started

There are always two sides to a question, but it is a fact that one reason why homes are not being built with the rapidity and in the number of ten or twelve years ago is because of the increased cost of building. A man could buy considerably more house at less initial expense ten years ago than he can today. Ten years ago $3500 would build a six-room house. Today you can buy about half that number of rooms for that price. It takes considerable time for the average wage-earner to lay away enough money to make a start—an initial payment—on a house of six rooms. There are economic factors that enter into the homebuilding situation, factors over which the homebuilder has no control. But, if these factors are such as to make it impossible to obtain all the house and fittings desired, then the quantities must be reduced.

There isn't a question but what the homebuilding urge is in the soul of everyone, but it is a matter of getting started, laying away and saving enough to make the initial investment and then not asking for more than the purse will stand.—Copyright, 1925, Architects' Small House Service Bureau.

No Waste Space In This Cozy Home

Copyright, 1925—Architects' Small House Service Bureau.



Not an inch of space has been wasted in this efficiently planned house design No. 6-B-13. It has the privacy of a two story house, the compactness of the bungalow, and the living facilities of a large house. The design provides for three bedrooms, a large well lighted living room, a delightful dining room as well as a dining alcove and a pleasant complete kitchen. The basement has an extra finished room, as well as a large den with a fireplace.

The steep gables and casement windows of the exterior suggest the English cottage, and make an unusual and interesting treatment for the bungalow.

The construction provides for exterior walls of brick. Tile may be substituted for that part of the walls for which the exterior finish is stucco. The suggested color scheme is of red flash brick for base course and quoins with white stucco in floated finish and with woodwork painted blue green. The cornice may be painted white, and shingles of variegated tones of gray green and reddish brown.

Features of This Design

Features of this house are the detachment of the living quarters of the house from the sleeping quarters, the well lighted entry of good size, the coat closet off the living room and the extra closet spaces in bedrooms and hall.

The lot should be 50 feet in width. The house should be faced so as to take advantage of prevailing winds, location of trees and best views from the windows. It can be reversed if necessary.

There are certain advantages possessed by bungalows which are not held in common with other types of small houses. One of the most important of these is gained from its low lying character. This gives it an air of hominess. It relieves the design of pretentiousness. Two story houses are often less expensive to build, but, when they are of small size, the shallow depth often makes them seem unreasonably high. This, of course, cannot be overcome since ceiling heights must be maintained. The bungalow lies close to the ground and, properly relieved with planting, may seem to be part of the site itself.

Another advantage belonging exclusively to the bungalow is the elimination of stair climbing. It is amazing how many trips one makes up and down the stairway to the second story in the course of a day. To many people this is not the least objectionable, but many housewives believe it is not only tiring, but inconvenient. They prefer having the bedrooms and bath available without the intervention of a stairway.

The dining alcove lying between the kitchen and the dining room serves not only as an informal dining place convenient to the kitchen, but also as a pass pantry which separates the kitchen from the dining room.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The plans for small homes are furnished by the Regional Bureaus of the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., an organization made up of the representative practicing architects from leading architectural offices throughout the United States. This bureau is controlled by the American Institute of Architects, and has the endorsement of the Department of Commerce, United States government. It is practically a non-profit making public service, and has as its purpose the furnishing of a very complete and dependable small house plan service at modest cost. For information regarding the blue prints and specifications, address the Home Building Editor of this paper. The United States bureau maintains an information department to answer home builders' questions at no charge. Enclose stamped addressed envelope.

Dr. William L. Bailey, professor of sociology at Northwestern university, who has made a special study of the suburban populations of every American city of over 100,000 population, a survey conducted for the Rockefeller Foundation in its institute for social research, will state the conclusions he has drawn from that study as to the future of American cities. Paul M. Stark, Madison, Wisconsin, will speak on "Practical Real Estate Education."

A. S. Adams, of Atlanta, Georgia, chairman of the ethics committee of the National association, will urge vigorous enforcement of the realtors' code of ethics. His subject will be "Do We Mean What We Say?"

Charles G. Edwards, of New York, president of the National association of Real Estate boards, will preside at the general sessions, and will address the opening meeting on the meaning of the convention and the work of the National association.

Practical Fence Surrounds Home

Fencing along the property lines of the C. C. Stoler estate at 1262 Justin avenue, near Kenneth road, has recently been completed by the Crown Fence Co. of Pasadena, under the supervision of Guy F. Churchill, resident manager, 415 Roads End, Glendale.

Mr. Stoler has a complete enclosure which combines attractiveness and utility to a marked degree. Galvanized steel posts set in concrete and galvanized woven wire insure permanency, protection from marauders, and a substantial, lasting support for climbing roses or vines.

The affinity between gold fish and cats and dogs has effectively been checked by the new fence as the animals can no longer get in and the gold fish never go out to them.

Home Builders' Questions Answered

Q.—Is wood lath satisfactory for stucco?

A.—Wood is not recommended for cement stucco, but is satisfactory for use with lime or magnesite stucco.

Q.—How can one be certain of getting thoroughly seasoned lumber and millwork?

A.—The only way to be certain is to buy from a manufacturer who bears a good reputation in your city. Even so, the best materials may be ruined if they are not properly handled. This requires a contractor who knows his business. It is appalling how many buildings are ruined by contractors who are not competent to build. The use of interior materials or goodly materials poorly handled may make your house so expensive from the depreciation standpoint that you will find it too expensive to own.

Q.—Is it advisable to fill in the hollows of concrete blocks with cement mortar?

A.—We do not recommend filling the hollow of concrete blocks unless they are to be used crosswise of the wall for footings. The hollow spaces in walls function as insulating and damp proofing measures.

DATE FOR BETTER HOMES WEEK SET

May 11 to 18 Will Be Observed Throughout Entire Nation

Throughout the nation as well as in this city the observance of Better Homes Week is in progress, the object being to bring to the attention of the American people the value of the home and to present practical working ideas for the improvement and beautification of the American home. Better Homes Week started on May 11 and will continue until May 18.

Civic and commercial organizations are banded together to present the idea of better homes as exemplified in the Better Homes in America movement launched by a committee headed by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce.

The week will be characterized by home demonstrations. All stores will make a special effort to present the most modern home appliances for inspection by the public. Every citizen will be given an opportunity to study the modern home and to become thoroughly acquainted with the advantages of American home life. Details of the celebration are under the general supervision of the Pacific Coast Better Homes Bureau which has its headquarters in San Francisco and is directing the observance of the week in all coast and western states.

The purpose of Better Homes Week is to demonstrate the advantages of thrift by home owning, as only about 45 per cent of the families of America are home owners. Another idea behind the movement is to teach the American people the proper methods of building, equipping and decorating their homes.

The movement for Better Homes in America has the backing of such prominent men as Mr. Hoover, President Calvin Coolidge and Theodore Roosevelt, former assistant secretary of the navy.

In discussing the Better Homes movement, President Coolidge said:

"The American home is the foundation of our national and individual well being. Its steady improvement is, at the same time, a test of our civilization and of our ideals. The Better Homes in America movement provides a channel through which men and women in each community can encourage the building, ornamenting and owning of private homes by the people at large. We need attractive, worthy, permanent homes that lighten the burden of housekeeping. We need homes in which home life can reach its finest levels, and in which can be reared happy children and upright citizens.

"I recommend participation in Better Homes demonstrations and in the other work of the movement to the American people."

Herbert Hoover, who has taken an active part in the Better Homes in America movement for several years, outlines the advantages of better homes in the following statement:

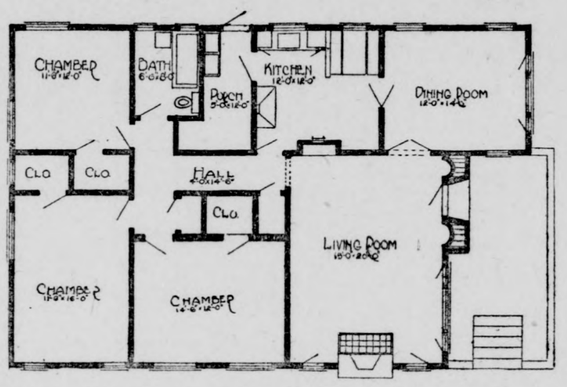
"Our families are self-reliant; they have a strong creative instinct; they strive ever for something better, and ever to make the best use of what they have. Beyond having their homes decent and healthful, they want to make them attractive and beautiful, and they are eager in contriving to reduce household drudgery. Besides the will, they have the education and practical ingenuity needed to make the best use of the devices which modern civilization has placed at their disposal. On the other hand, with the passing of individual handicraft in making articles for the home, men and women find difficulty in making the best selection from the vast number and variety of articles and methods that are offered to them.

"A great need is apparent for well directed, concerted efforts to work out a solution from the point of view of the family with a small income, that has to make both ends meet.

"The co-operation of the citizens of each community in Better Homes demonstrations has been found successful and agreed upon by leading organizations representing millions of men and women as a practical way of meeting this need, and of presenting the results of study to the public in a way that can readily be grasped. I therefore have no hesitation in urging such co-operation as an outstanding form of public service. From this movement there should develop steadiness of character, high ideals of family life, civic pride and responsibility throughout our land."

Attractive Six-Room Bungalow

Designed to fit narrow lot. Plans submitted by John T. Bibb, designer and builder, 214 North Brand Boulevard



The accompanying plans are submitted by John T. Bibb, well-known designer and builder, 214 North Brand boulevard, Glendale: They were drawn to fit a six-room home to a narrow lot, although the arrangement is highly desirable, regardless of the width of the property. The plan gives the view and front exposure to the living and dining rooms, on account of the objection of many home seekers to having the bedrooms exposed to the street.

Another feature is the short length of hall which is always a problem in designing a six-room bungalow.

The exterior is a particularly pleasing treatment of modern Spanish architecture, the tower at the entrance giving a great depth of reveal at the front door, and suggesting massive wall construction, at the same time allowing recesses to be built in the living room for vases or bric-a-brac.

Mr. Bibb informs us that this home can be built for an astonishingly low figure. Those interested will be cordially received by him at 214 North Brand boulevard. Phone Glendale 646.

BRIDGE BUILDERS AID TO FACTORIES

McClintic-Marshall Firm Has Structure In L. A. on Way to Completion

LOS ANGELES, April 10.—The McClintic-Marshall Co., one of the largest nationally known manufacturers of steel bridges and buildings, will make an investment of approximately $1,000,000 in a plant on Central avenue at 110th street, it is announced.

The company's new building will be ready for operation early in the spring, giving employment to 400 men, according to R. W. Pridham, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

In speaking of the plans of the McClintic-Marshall Co. of locating in Los Angeles, President Pridham stated that the location of this plant here brings into the local field one of the largest nationally known builders.

W. B. Kyle, vice-president of the McClintic-Marshall Co., stated that the foundations for the building were well under way and that ten cars of steel for the building and four carloads of machinery were on the way.

The new plant is a duplicate of their factory at Carnegie, Pa., and will have a capacity of 1500 tons or more a month. The local factory will do all its fabrication work with the exception of the very heaviest of bridges, which will be made in the Rankin, Pa., shops. The concern here will have its own rivet shop, which is not customary among the other California fabricators.

SENATE CUSTOMS RANKLE DAWES

'Hell Maria' Still 'Red Hot' He Assures Newspaper Editors at Banquet

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, April 25.—A thousand editors of the United States have voted unanimously that Charley Dawes can stay madder longer than anybody they ever knew. These editors thought perhaps that General Dawes had worked himself up to a special pitch of fury when he lambasted the senate on his first appearance before that body and that the anger soon would lash itself away. But they found when the vice-president appeared before them here that there was not the slightest evidence of a subsidence of the tumultuous waves and there was misgiving today as to what ultimately may happen to the doughty general if the fires of his fury continue to grow and grow during the time the senate is in adjournment and can take no action.

Not that anyone believes the Senate will take any action when it reconvenes next December. General Dawes admits himself that the senate won't pay any attention to him. He has neither illusions nor delusions on that score. But he does believe the people of the United States can get under the senate's skin. He said so in so many words.

Public Appealed To

Senators may appear hard boiled at Washington, but when they are at home and moving among their own people the vice president believes they are amenable to reason. He says they cannot stand out against public sentiment, and therefore he has reached the stage in his campaign against the Senate rules where he wants every man, woman and child in the United States to write to their representatives in the upper chamber telling them to amend rule 22 so that a debate may be closed at any time to permit the majority to work its way.

If General Dawes still is in high dudgeon, he is also in high good humor. He tempers his anger with bits of badinage. Perhaps if he had tried similar tactics on the senate last March 4 the big wall of ill feeling which sprung up between the senators and their presiding officer might never have been erected. Perhaps even if the vice president had smoked his upside down pipe before the senators as he did before the editors, all might have been well. But smoking is prohibited in the Senate chamber and perhaps that accounts for the frequent absences of the general. Some day they will permit smoking in the senate and then everybody will be happy.

General Dawes' pipe is by no means a pipe of peace. He smokes when he is reflecting anger, red anger against the senate and its ways. He puffs most complacently with vehemence and he is vehement most of the time.

If he only dared, General Dawes would inveigh against the rule or the custom which permits the vice president to speak in the senate only once in 4 years. He has revealed that he was limited to twelve and one-half minutes for his inaugural address. That is why he compressed so much into so few words and why he started off at such a furious pace.

The editors who read about the Washington address, and who applauded it from their sanctums were anxious to see the vice president in action. It is only fair to say that he fulfilled their fondest expectations. He said he hated to inflict a written and prepared address before such a body and he meant it.

Long, Weary Path

But General Dawes reads a prepared address differently from any one else in all the world. His speech to the Senate was prepared in advance but no one would ever have known it. Reading an address generally has a depressing effect upon the average orator. Not upon Charley Dawes. He can't be depressed. He stormed through that luncheon address here as if he were a member of the French chamber. The microphones in front of him bent at times from the fury of his tones.

NURMI MANAGER DENIES CHARGES

Finn Runner Only Casually Mentioned, Says Quist; Talked of Ritola

LOS ANGELES, April 25.—Hugo Quist, manager of Paavo Nurmi, who meets eight Hopi Indians in a three mile race here today, said this morning that the statement of Kenneth L. Wilson, director of athletics at Drake university, was wholly unfounded.

Not only did Quist deny that he had raised the price of Nurmi's appearance at the Drake relay carnival from $50 to $500, but he also stated that Nurmi was only casually discussed in his conversation with Wilson.

Talked of Ritola

"I told Wilson," Quist said, "that it was impossible for Nurmi to appear at Drake, because of his prior engagement to run at Los Angeles on the date he was wanted there.

"The rest of our conversation was about Willie Ritola. Wilson wanted him for the relay carnival, but when an agreement couldn't be reached on the distance Ritola was to run, all negotiations were halted."

Quist, apparently was unperturbed concerning Wilson's charges.

Notes Submitted

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 25.—Affidavits dealing with an exchange of scribbled notes in which he claims Hugo Quist, representative of Willie Ritola and Paavo Nurmi, raised the expense ante for their appearance in the Drake relay carnival yesterday and today from $50 to $500 were to be submitted today to the national registration committee of the A. A. U. at New York.

DARKENED WINDOWS

By CORNELIA KANE RATHBONE

Copyright, D. Appleton & Co. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate

"Now to go back to what happened here. We have Mrs. Von Eulen taking the rings and the banknotes which Miss Smith says were in the safe—"

Estelle's eyes flashed open. "I deny it," she protested.

Flint wrote a line in his notebook. "Mrs. Von Eulen denies it," he repeated, sotto voce, as he wrote. "But at our first interview," he said aloud, "you tacitly admitted taking the money, and then losing it."

"I lied. I thought Carl von Eulen must have taken it. I lied to shield him."

"I see. Well, to continue, Miss Smith, meanwhile, having seen the pair enter the house, goes to the nearest telephone booth and calls up Mr. Hurst, who is dining with Colonel Sanford. Here is part of a letter written by her to Von Eulen which explains her motive. It was unloverlike of the gentleman to use the back of your letter for his laundry list, Miss Smith."

Flint thereupon read a few extracts from the fragment of Miss Smith's letter which had come so curiously into his hands. The extracts, such as "She shan't have you," "I'll get even with her," "I'll spoil her game," made the reason for the girl's action plain. Sobbing into her moist handkerchief, she was heard to wail that she hated him; that she hoped he'd get what was coming to him. Whereupon Flint assured her grimly that on that score she had no grounds for worry.

"Miss Smith phones then, as I said," Flint went on, "and hurries back to see what will happen, hiding, as she has told us, in the area opposite. Soon after this Mr. Hurst arrives in answer to her summons, and bursts in upon his daughter and Mr. Von Eulen. It is then about fifteen minutes after eight, according to Colonel Sanford's butler. Whether or not Mr. Hurst is then told of the marriage I don't know, but it is certain that there is a violent quarrel, sworn to by the kitchen maid, during which Mr. Hurst calls von Eulen a damn German and orders him out of the house. However that may be, Von Eulen leaves, and his wife remains."

Flint stopped speaking and stood for a moment or two in silence, staring at the floor. The group round him seemed to stop breathing. Graham's nerves were so tense and quivering that he found himself starting when the rain swept again, like angry fingers, across the windowpanes.

Flint's voice began again, but lower, graver, without modulation, like the monotonous beat of a single muted note. His words came slowly, and as if reluctantly.

"The wife remains—"he repeated. "The two, father and daughter, are alone. What happens? Doubtless more words between them, first of all. The father threatens to change his will. He telephones, as we know, to his lawyer, and finds him out of town. He will not wait—he is too impatient to punish the daughter who has dared to defy him. He decides to draft his new will himself. He seats himself at his desk and begins to write. His daughter watches him. She realizes that her father's threat is not an empty one—that he is really making a new will which will disinherit her. I have here a portion of that will which, fortunately, escaped the fire into which the person who shot Mr. Hurst threw it."

Flint here held up the fragment of charred paper which he had rescued from the library grate.

"Excuse me if I do not let this out of my hands," he said. "It is too important a piece of evidence to be risked."

He passed slowly around the group, holding the paper out so that each one might read. Estelle was the only one who spoke.

"It might refer to my stepmother quite as well as to me," she said.

"It might," Flint assented. "But, all things considered, I don't think it does."

"And, because you think it wasn't her name my father meant to cut out of his will, you conclude it wasn't she who shot him? As to the shooting, you are right. She hasn't spirit enough. If she had been going to murder my father she would have done it long ago. As to the will, you have no proof, and you never will have any."

"Not unless you tell us, perhaps, or another witness turns up. You never know."

"But, will or no will, you have crossed Mrs. Hurst off your list of suspects as well as Carl von Eulen, have you?"

"Yes."

"But you haven't crossed me off—is that it?"

Flint was silent. Evadne hid her face in her hands.

Estelle moistened her lips nervously; her breath came quickly.

"Shall I go on?" asked Flint, after a moment. "Shall I finish the tragedy for you? Is there any need?"

His voice, sad, vibrating, sounded in Graham's ears like the solemn tolling of a knell. Estelle was on her feet. She looked from one to another of the little group with startled eyes. Then she gave a short, strident laugh.

"You believe that woman's accusation! You believe, all of you, that I killed my father. I see you do!"

"No, no!" wailed Denis.

Estelle held up her hand. "Hush!" she commanded harshly. "Don't speak till you are spoken to."

She turned to Graham. "You, at least, are a gentleman. Do you believe me guilty on the word of a woman like that—a thing I wouldn't touch with my finger tips—and an imaginary scene drawn by a policeman whose reputation depends on his producing my father's murderer?"

"Can you disprove your guilt?" asked Flint, sternly, breaking in on Graham's painful silence. "Have you witnesses to prove that you were not in the library when the shot was fired? Have you any real evidence to bring against any other person? Think, Mrs. Von Eulen, you can deny, but can you disprove?"

Estelle looked at him, still with head held high, but with a look of consternation growing in her eyes. She seemed, for the first time, to grasp the seriousness of her position.

"No," she said hoarsely.

"Yet you seem surprised that you should be suspected. Why is that? You confessed, when I saw you first in Miss Meecham's parlor, that you had gone into hiding because you feared you might be suspected of your father's murder."

"That was a lie. I can say it now, now that you say my husband is beyond suspicion. I thought he was guilty. My father had insulted him grossly, and I thought that Carl had come back and shot him while I was upstairs changing my gown. I hid from the police because I was afraid I might be forced to say something which would incriminate him."

"Why should I believe you now rather than then?" Flint demanded.

She stared at him, dazeless. She had no answer.

"If you have anything to say in disproof of the accusation brought against you, say it now," Flint charged her. "If not—" He lifted his arm and pointed an accusing finger at her as he spoke. His eyes, however, Graham noticed, were fixed, not on her, but on something beyond her—Graham followed his look—he was watching Denis.

With one hand pressed convulsively to his heart, the other uplifted as if enjoining silence upon the accuser, the old man was staggering across the room.

Flint, watching, spoke on, his voice cold and inexorable. "Inspector Breitman, would I be justified, on the evidence we possess, in arresting Mrs. Von Eulen for the murder of her father, Hannibal Hurst?"

"Yes," thundered the inspector.

"In that case, Denis, will you call up the men who are waiting downstairs?"

For answer the old man brushed past Flint and threw himself in front of Estelle, stretching out his shaking arms as if to make a shield for her. For a moment or two he fought for breath, his hand still clutching at his heart, then, "Arrest Miss Estelle, is it?" he gasped. "And you calling yourself a detective! Sure, but you are the easy one to fool! I couldn't believe my ears at first, hearing you. Call up your men yourself, if you want them, but arrest the one that did the deed—and that's myself, Denis Mahar."

Graham heard Flint draw a long breath of relief. He almost felt the tension of the man relax. So this was what Flint had been working for, playing for. This was the little experiment he had told them he was going to make.

Denis had turned to Estelle; nobody else mattered to him.

"I did it for you, my darling," he pleaded. "Don't look at your poor old Denny like that! Listen, acushla, till I tell you how it was.

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white spaces remain uninterruptedly.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright, 1925, By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TRIPPER

When Uncle Wiggily Longears hopped down the path from his hollow stump bungalow one morning, the rabbit gentleman caught his paw in a loop of a wild grapevine that was growing there and down he fell!

"Oh, dear!" cried Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy from the window, near which she was washing the breakfast dishes. "Did you hurt yourself, Uncle Wiggily?"

"No, thank you! Hardly any," answered the bunny. "I just caught my paw in a tripper."

"In a slipper!" exclaimed Nurse Jane. "You shouldn't go out wearing your slippers!"

"I didnt say SLIPPER. I said TRIPPER!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, and I think it is very mhch to his credit that he could laugh after he had bumped his pink, twinkling nose, bringing tears to his eyes.

"And what is a tripper?" asked Nurse Jane.

"This piece of wild grapevine, which sticks out in a loop, like Baby Bunty's jumping rope," answered the rabbit gentleman. "That is a tripper, for it tripped me. I must cut it down so it will trip no one else."

Then Uncle Wiggily started to hop on down the path.

"Well, why don't you take the hatchet and chop the tripper so no one else will fall?" asked the muskrat lady, wagging her long tail.

"I'll do it when I come back," Uncle Wiggily answered, and away he hopped faster than before. "I want to have an adventure before I chop the tripper!"

"Oh, dear!" sighed Nurse Jane. "That's the only bad fault Uncle Wiggily has—he will put off things that need doing to go out and have an adventure! Well, I suppose it might be worse! I would chop that tripper myself if I knew how. I hope nothing happens until Mr. Longears gets back to do the chopping himself."

Nurse Jane went on washing the dishes and then, looking down the path she saw Uncle Butter, the goat gentleman, skipping up.

"Is Uncle Wiggily in?" bleated the goat.

"No, he isn't, and please look out for the tripper!" said Nurse Jane.

"What's the tripper?" asked Uncle Butter, and just then he caught one foot in the loop of the grapevine, as Uncle Wiggily had done, and down fell the bleating gentleman.

"That's the tripper," gently explained Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Uncle Wiggily is going to chop it away as soon as he comes back from adventuring."

"I wish he had chopped it before he went," said Uncle Butter, sort of dispossessed-like and fatigued. "Please tell him I said so."

Nurse Jane promised that she would. All this while Uncle Wiggily was hopping in the woods, looking for an adventure. He met Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, with a basket.

"What have you there?" asked the bunny, bowing politely.

"A lovely apple pie," grunted the lady pig. "I baked two and I am taking one to your bungalow for you. I'm on my way there now."

"Oh, fine!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I'll be there myself as soon as I meet with an adventure!" Then he hopped one way and Mrs. Twistytail went the other with the pie in a basket. Then Mr. Longears thought to himself: "I wish I had told Mrs. Twistytail to be careful of the tripper at my gate. But I guess she will see it."

After a while, finding no adventure, the bunny gentleman hopped home. All the way he was thinking of the treat in store for him.

"Hello, Nurse Jane!" he cried, hopping into the bungalow. "Where is the pie Mrs. Twistytail brought for me? I met her in the woods. Where is the pie?"

Nurse Jane led the bunny to the front gate. "There is the pie!" she squealed, and there it was, all squashed, broke and scattered over the ground. "Mrs. Twistytail caught her foot in the tripper and fell, spilling the pie all over. She sat on it, too," sadly said the muskrat lady. "There is no pie for you!"

"Oh, dear!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Why didn't I chop that tripper before I went adventuring? I'll do it now, but it is too late." And so it was. Things happen that way in this world, sometimes. But the next day Mrs. Twistytail brought over another pie and she didn't fall, for the tripper vine was cut.

Heart and Home — Health and Happiness

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor Peters: I am one of your followers. A year and one-half ago I reduced from 170 to 135. I do not find it hard to keep my weight down, now that I know how to handle those calories. I reduced my hips four inches, by kicking and walking, but my waist line is still rather big.—Mrs. D."

This letter answers those of you who are wondering if you are going to be able to keep your weight down after you get down to normal.

Venus had a rather big waist line, Mrs. D. Keep up your bending and twisting exercises, if you think you are out of proportion. (Keep them up, anyway).

Thank you for writing.

MASTOIDS

Mrs. L.—Mastoiditis is the inflammation of the cells called "mastoid" cells, in the bones back of the ears. (The termination "itis" means inflammation). This inflammation may follow tuberculosis, pneumonia, typhoid or other diseases, but the most frequent cause is the inflammation of the ears themselves, which in turn may come from bad colds.

In acute cases, the first symptom is intense pain behind the ear and often the whole side of the head. There is usually some temperature.

If there is no free drainage from the ear, there may be some danger of this inflammation burrowing up into the brain. If the drum is not already punctured, the doctor punctures it to allow for this free drainage. It is considered better to do this than to wait for nature to rupture it because the natural rupture causes more destruction than a clean incision, and too much damage may go on before the rupture occurs.

The simple cases of mastoditis recover without operation. You have to leave to your physician the question of deciding whether to operate or not.

Gleason says that when the symptoms first appear, the mastoid bones should be thickly covered with an ointment made of 20 per cent ichthyol in lanoline. Then the parts should be covered with a wax paper and bandaged and a hot water bag applied. Painting with iodine is not recommended because it makes the skin so sore that the physician cannot tell whether the tenderness on pressure is a result of the iodine or the inflammation of the bone.

The patient usually recovers quickly from a mastoid operation—in ten days, in the simple cases, or it may take longer—perhaps six weeks, depending upon the severity of the case. Children who have chronically running ears may be in danger of mastoditis, so these should not be neglected.

SWOLLEN ANKLES

Miss H.—You do not state your age, but if you are under 21, you are about 20 pounds overweight. You are probably under par in health. That may account for your swollen ankles.

Do you have to stand on your feet a good deal? Do you wear shoes that are comfortable and medium heeled? You had better have a thorough physical examination including a blood and urine analysis by a competent physician.

Send for our instruction booklet on gaining and losing weight. (Enclose 10 cents in stamps and a self-addressed, stamped, good-sized envelope). We are getting wonderful reports from the followers from its use.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Even the little folk sometimes have "social debts" to pay off, and if a child has accepted many party invitations without having given a party she (or he) could select no more appropriate time to meet her obligations than May first.

The beautiful thing about a May party is that it may be given out of doors. All of the games may be played on the lawn, and the refreshments (the usual iced cocoa, simple white cake, jam sandwiches and ice cream) may be served in the dining room—unless a table on the lawn is preferred. The games, of course, make the "party." Here are some excellent ones:

Chase the Squirrel is a good game to start it, as it is vigorous and "breaks the ice." All except one child stand in a ring with hands on one another's shoulders. The one outside this ring runs around the circle and suddenly drops a large walnut behind one child. That child must break the ring, pick up the nut and run to the left, while the Squirrel (the child who dropped the nut) runs around the outside of the ring to the right. They pass each other on the opposite side of the ring, of course, and each tries to reach the vacant space in the ring left by the child who picked up the nut. If the Squirrel reaches it, then the other runner becomes Squirrel and must now drop the nut behind some other child in the ring. The game may be played indefinitely.

Making May Baskets: Each child is given a small, unadorned basket and told to decorate it from a pile of crepe paper (have one pair of scissors for each child); an assortment of cut flowers (or imitation flowers) should be at hand for the contestants to select from, when filling their baskets. The prettiest basket wins a prize. Five minutes is a fair time to allow for the work. These little baskets can then be used on the refreshments table as favors or decorations.

Hide the Bird: This game is a variation of the old-fashioned Hide the Thimble. A china or papier mache bird is used instead of a thimble. It may be hidden in bushes, among flowers, or any place around the lawn or porch by the child who is "It," while the other children hide.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

FOR THE MOTORIST

The last place I expected to find a beauty hint was in a book on motor cars and what to do with your engine when it won't start, and the way to find the root of trouble when your faithful motor breaks down on a lonely country road at some unearthly hour. But there it was, perfectly good and perfectly obvious, a way to keep the hands and finger nails clean when fussing about the car with oil or gasoline.

It's simply this: Rub the edges of the nails, and under the nails, with soft, yellow soap. Rub well, using lots of soap. Gasoline won't dissolve that. And if you must immerse the hands in gasoline, rub a film of the soap all over the skin. I tried it when cleaning spark plugs, with great success. I thing it might be tried for home cleaning of clothes, when they are soaked in a large basin of gasoline, as long as the rubbing is not done with the backs of the hands. The rubbing might work the soap into the garment. It's good when cleaning the outside of the car with a half-and-half mixture of water and gasoline, too.

Here's another hint from the same book, for a soap for cleaning the hands after dirty work around either the garage or house. Warm a half pound of soft soap in a large jam jar or earthenware crock set in boiling water until the soap runs like glycerine. Remove from the stove and then add a quarter pint of wood alcohol or methylated spirit, and two drams of ether. Stir together well, and bottle promptly, keeping the mixture corked so the ether will not evaporate. When using, pour a teaspoonful into the palm of one hand, rub well over the skin and when you rinse with warm water, all the dirt comes out.

To keep dirty oil from the hands, use oil first, that is, smear hands and nails with petroleum jelly. It keeps the dirt from the pores of the skin.

E. R.—Bunions should be treated by a chiropodist because if they get very bad they are rarely cured at all. You can relieve the soreness at times by painting the skin with iodine and by wearing a large felt ring around the swelling, so there will be no danger of pressure from the shoe against the bunion.

Dot.—If you were never bowlegged before, you must be standing incorrectly or wearing a wrong kind of shoe to cause this trouble now after attaining to an adult age.

L. W. A.—Massage calves of legs with cocoa butter to help fatten them, and build up your general weight if you are below normal.

Mrs. S. B.—A wart on the face, especially one from which hair is growing, requires the attention of a skin specialist. NEVER tamper with warts yourself.

Miss G. G.—A good cream is made from fine vegetable oils. If you need a formula for making a cream, I will be glad to mail it to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope for forwarding.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

NORTHWEST WILL GET GLENDALIANS

Hundreds of Local Persons To Attend Conventions In Washington, Oregon

Hundreds of Glendalians will visit Washington and Oregon and other parts of the northwest this summer as a result of the large number of national conventions scheduled by prominent organizations for Portland and Seattle during the next few months. Plans for handling large parties out of Glendale during May, June and July, were announced by C. A. Redmond, city passenger agent for the Union Pacific, today. Summer excursion rates will be available to those making the northern trip, with side excursions to Salt Lake City, Yellowstone and Zion National parks, and other points of interest.

Among the conventions of national interest that will take place in the northwest in the next few months are: Grand lodge, I. O. O. F., at Portland, September 21 to 26; Elks' national convention at Portland, July 13 to 18; Christian Endeavor convention at Portland, June 15 to 20; Rose Festival at Portland, June 15 to 20; convention of the National Association of Master Plumbers at Portland, June 23 to 25; Northern Baptist convention at Seattle, June 30 to August 5; meeting of the American Library association at Seattle, July 6 to 11; National Foreign Trades council at Seattle, June 24 to 27, and the triennial conclave of Knight Templars at Seattle, July 6 to 11.

Scheduled Events

More than half a hundred Glendale Knight Templars and their wives will attend the conclave at Seattle and will join members of other commanderies of Southern California on a boat trip to Alaska. Twenty-five Christian Endeavor delegates from this city will attend the convention of that organization at Portland. Glendale lodge No. 1289, B. P. O. E., will have a strong representation at the Elks' national convention at Portland, Secretary Walter W. Jones said, although the exact number that will attend from this city is not yet known.

The Northern Baptist convention, one of the largest religious gatherings of the year, will draw a number of Glendale Baptists to the northwest. Officials of the Glendale Odd Fellows lodge said they would have a number of delegates at the Portland grand lodge session.

Not only will the northwestern conventions take many Glendalians to that section of the country, but they will likewise bring many thousands of tourists to Southern California, Mr. Redmond said. At least 50,000 persons who would not otherwise have come west will visit Southern California once these conventions are over at Portland and Seattle, he said.

MERCHANTS PLAY BLUE BIRD CREW

Laundry Workers, With One Win Over Local Club, Come Here Sunday

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

The Glendale Merchants are due for a cleaning tomorrow, if the avowed plans of the Blue Bird Laundry baseball team can be believed, for the washing gang will invade the local ball park on San Fernando road for a game with the locals, starting at 2:30 o'clock. It will be the next to the last game the Merchants will play in Glendale before starting their tour of eastern states and, judging by the past performances of both clubs, it is going to be SOME battle.

The laundrymen have been winning right and left throughout the winter season. They trounced the local Merchants, being one of the three teams able to accomplish this feat in thirty-eight games. Manager M. R. Bacom and his crew are out for revenge tomorrow, too, and intend to even up matters. It took the laundrymen ten innings to beat the Merchants, 3 to 2, three months ago.

Directing the activities of the clean-up gang is Billy Goodman, who is everything his name indicates. Billy rounded out his apprenticeship in the Pacific coast loop, rattling the boards and snatching sizzling drives while drawing down pay from the owners of the Portland club for a couple of seasons, and then shifted his stamping grounds to the San Francisco mess hall.

Pitching Forces

Goodman will use Harry Johnson on the mound for tomorrow's game. Johnson tried out with Seattle this season and while the Indians' manager took a liking to Harry's curves and speed, he felt the youngster needed a year of seasoning in the fast-stepping semi-pro circles.

The local fans will pin their hopes on Red Conkwright, the sorrel speedball artist, who mowed 'em down in the Three-Eye league last season, and has been going like a house afire during the winter season. Conkwright graced the mound in eighteen games during the winter months, and the credit side of his score ledger shows all but two games marked there.

The batting order for the visitors will probably be: Mills, 2b; McAlpine, 3b; Goodman, ss; Valincia, 1b; Kinkland, cf; Cowan, lf; Lesley, rf; Porec, c; Johnson, p. The battling order for the Merchants will probably be: Garcia, ss; Allen, 3b; Sherman, cf; Harding, lf; Nobles, c; Bacon, 1b; Parson, 2b; Acosta, rf; Conkwright, p.

Written for The Evening News

The first decade of the present century witnessed one of the greatest pitching battles in the history of baseball. Perusal of the box score of this memorable game alone gives the dyed-in-the-wool fan topics for a week of fanning bees.

The game referred to is the one between Cleveland and Chicago in the closing days of the memorable campaign of 1908. On October 2, that year, Cleveland was battling tooth and nail for a pennant. When the season finally ended the famous old Naps had finished just half a game short of the prize. The days that the Naps and White Sox met the pennant seemed within the grasp of the former team. Addie Joss, ace of the Naps, drew the pitching assignment and when Big Ed Walsh of the White Sox mound staff was sent in to oppose him fans settled back for what they felt in their bones would be "some battle."

Birmy Gave Joss "Edge"

Cleveland put over a run in the third, the run destined to win the game. Joe Birmingham scored it. Chicago went to bat inning after inning in the vain hope of also putting at least one man across. Inning after inning Joss turned them back. The seventh inning came. Not a hit had he allowed. The Cleveland fans (the game was played in Cleveland) hesitated to take the traditional "stretch" for fear of breaking "Addie's" back.

The eighth came around and passed. The crowd had appreciated all along the fact that Joss had not allowed a hit. When the ninth started they fairly held their breaths.

The Sox batters went into the ninth inning desperate. If Joss realized that fame was within his grasp he gave no indication of it. That was not Joss's style. He seemed oblivious to everything except the fact that he had another batter to turn back.

Fielder Jones was managing the Sox then. In a vain effort to turn defeat into victory—to break the spell Joss had over his players—Jones called on his pinch hitters.

"Doc" White batted for Shaw—and failed to break the spell.

Tannehill, star in his own right and playing third that day, was called back to the bench and "Jiggs" Donohue picked out a bat.

Donohue's efforts were futile.

Then Jones, in desperation, knowing what the move would cost Big Ed, sent in a pinch hitter to bat for him. John Anderson drew the assignment. Anderson "connected," but Bill Bradley, peer of the third sackers if you will, was behind the blow and his swinging whip put the ball on first before Anderson reached the bag.

Joins Immortals

But three pitchers in the history of the league have turned that trick. Charley Robertson, young Chicago hurler, did it in 1921. Up to that time Cy Young was the only other man who had accomplished that feat.

As for Walsh. He had pitched his heart out. He had allowed but four hits. He had fanned fifteen. Joss had given his fielders more work. He had fanned but three men. Walsh had walked but one man.

Walsh, in defeat, drew the honor due a gallant foeman.

ERRORS ARE COSTLY

Memories of the "hitless wonders" were revived in Chicago as the White Sox made four runs on three hits and beat the Tigers 4 to 3. Detroit errors spilled the beans.

Dynamiters Tie Up Score In Sixth But Moors Put Over Winning Run

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Bucking up against a better team, the Glendale Dynamiters dropped the second tilt of the season to the Alhambra diamond cavorters yesterday on the latter's field, 7-6. The game was fast and few errors were made, although the two teams were fairly evenly matched. The Moors won out by a shade when they pushed across the winning count in the sixth just after the Dynamiters had evened matters with three in their half of the sixth.

As the strains of "play ball" were dying in the distance, Johnny Lovell singled and started the fireworks for Glendale. Thompson followed suit and both runners moved up a notch on Smith's infield out. Muff drove both Lovell and Thompson home with another single to center.

Not to be left in the soup the Moors came right back, and going the locals one better, went into the lead with three. Singles by House, Koester and Duncan, coupled with a fielder's choice and an infield fly doing the work.

Score Is Tied

House scored another for Alhambra in the next canto when he singled to left, stole second and ambled home on Koester's single. Glendale came back with one in the third on an error and a hit. The Moors scored twice in the fourth on two hits and a boot, and pushed over the winning marker in the sixth when Koester singled and went around on a hit and a fielder's choice.

By means of three hits and a like number of errors the locals brought in three more runs to tie the score, but were beaten out by Alhambra's lone tally in the next half of the inning.

Koester was the slugging star of the day, knocking out four hits and scoring three runs in five trips to the plate. House and Shields of Alhambra and Smith of Glendale each pulled two hits in five times at bat. Elmer Muff hit safely twice in four tries.

Charley Smith was not quite up to his old standard and lost the game before the onslaught of the Moors' willow wielders who got eleven hits in eight innings. Smith fanned seven and passed three. Clayton started for Alhambra but retired after the first inning, during which he allowed three hits and two runs. Flinker allowed but six hits in eight innings, fanned eight, and walked but one.

XII—Questions and Answers

Q. What can I do to correct a sour stomach? Mrs. H. S.

A. If foods sour in your stomach you are eating too much and too many combinations, and perhaps the wrong combination of food. You may have a craving for a food you can not control, but this is not hunger. Stop eating for two days, and drink a pint of hot water every hour during the day. Put juice of one-half lemon in part of the water you drink. Using the juice from say two lemons, during each of these two days, no sugar must be used. Ordinarily this would be too much acid to put in the stomach in so short a time. Do not eat anything until the third day, if you are after a cure. You may have a headache, but let it ache, it will pass off in due time. On the third day of the fast, confine your diet to the following:

Breakfast—All the hot water you can drink with the juice of half a lemon in it. Drink this one-half hour before eating, and see that it is not less than a pint. Eat a small dish of soaked prunes, say about four prunes with their juice. Chew them well. Eat nothing else. The prunes should be prepared by washing them clean, then pour over them hot water and allow to soak for twenty-four hours and no sugar.

Dinner—A small sauce dish of some vegetable, any except dry beans or potatoes. Do not put any fancy dressing on the vegetable, but eat it straight. Shave a little raw cabbage and a half a raw apple, chopped fine. Over this pour a dressing made of a well-beaten raw egg with lemon juice and sweetened with honey. You only need a small dish of this, not a big bowlful. This is enough for your dinner, and eat no more.

Supper—A baked apple and kernels from ten pecans, well chewed, nothing else. Do not use any cream on the apple. Do not think you are going to starve to death, but you are going to cure stomach trouble, remember that, and your whole system will be better for the treatment.

The above outline is only a sample. For the second day follow this procedure:

Breakfast—Half hour before eating drink at least a pint of hot water, into which put the juice of one-half lemon. Eat one biscuit made of whole wheat flour with butter and honey. Chew well and eat nothing else.

Dinner—A small dish of some vegetable raw, any except beans or potatoes. Also a bowl of vegetable soup. This must not have rice, potatoes, barley or beans in it. You may eat one egg. Nothing else. Use no crackers in the soup. The egg should be raw or boiled for an hour. No meat should be used in making the soup.

Supper—One dish of fresh apple sauce, about four ounces, and one glass of milk. Nothing else. Use whole wheat, vegetables and fruit in the future. You can overcome sour stomach, or stomach trouble of any kind also on the milk diet, which will appear later. Watch for it.

Next Week—Care of Health

PIRATES DROPPING

The Cubs gave the Pirates another shove down the ladder, winning by a score of 9 to 2. The slugging of Grimm, former Pirate, accounted for most of the damage.

VANCE HIT HARD

Brooklyn came to life and finally beat the Phillies, 10 to 8, in a ding-dong batting bee. Dazzy Vance was pounded for fifteen hits and just lasted to win.

GIANTS DEFEATED

Genewich held the Giants to five hits and the Braves beat the Giants 8 to 1, ending the champions' winning streak of six straight.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

NEW YORK, April 25.—Major league third basemen are almost certain to set new records for their positions this season. In the first forty-nine games played, some of them ran wild on the field and scarcely a day goes by that another third sacker doesn't join the gang who are trying to make fielding records that will leave other baseball seasons in the gloom.

If any third baseman gets eight chances in a game once in a year and accepts them all, he is a top-roller. Some third basemen never have had eight chances in a game.

Five of them have accepted eight chances or more in a game since the present season began, and at that rate the third basing of 1925 should be the most colorful show that baseball ever has seen, going back to the days when Jerry Denny and after him, Jimmy Collins, kings of the left side of the diamond, were so clever at their jobs that fans were wont to sit back of third base just to see them perform.

Stock, playing third with Brooklyn, led off this season with the first eight chances accepted in a nine inning game. He did it against Philadelphia.

Then came Haney of Detroit, with eight against Cleveland. Traynor of Pittsburgh swung into line with eight against Cincinnati. Kamm of the White Sox went his rivals one better, accepting nine chances in nine innings against St. Louis. Robertson, of the Browns accepted eight against the White Sox.

Why is it that third base should break out with a rush in this manner? Some will say luck. But it's a better bet that it is due to the fact that third basemen never were better able to play good baseball than this present season, which sent so many of them into the fight in tip top condition.

Of all the chaps who have reputations as third basemen, none has been very sorely affected so far except Heinie Groh of the Giants, and Heinie has been at the business of baseball a long time and his hinges are not what they were once. Nor are his bones full of rubber as they were. That condition is bound to happen to a ball player some day, and a third baseman feels it quicker than a first or second baseman.

The third baseman hasn't so much ground to cover as the second baseman, but he has to do a lot of quick starting, and he must be able to reach out on his right side, because the fast ones that skim between his barber poles and the foul line are the torpedoes that scuttle many a ball game.

The third basemen still have some stepping before they pass the old records for accepted chances in a nine inning game. The top notch in the National is thirteen and more than one has held it, including Arthur Devlin when he was a Giant. The American league record is twelve, made by Sammy Strang when he was playing with the White Sox.

But the way the third basemen have started off in the first half hundred games, the chances are bright of achieving almost anything before the season is over. There are still some 1200 games to go.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Joe Waterman is back in the east after a sojourn in the Orient. He has in tow a little bantamweight whom he values very highly, Doc Snell by name.

Joe, is a sincere, firm spoken man, who impresses anyone with the worth of a fighter he happens to be handling. Back in 1921 he brought Bud Ridley from the coast and proceeded to put him against the best the east had to offer.

Ridley made good. Whether he was beaten or not made no difference to spectators or the matchmakers, for every time he showed he made a fight of it and earned richly all he was paid. Joe and Bud then teamed up for a tour of Japan, Hawaii and the Philippines and he claims he did missionary work which will benefit a lot of fighters in a few years.

Ridley, as a matter of fact, is a featherweight now, and is coming back east for a whirl at the topnotchers. Last month he carried Kid Kaplan, the champion, through ten brisk rounds and this showing will stand him in stead hereabouts.

Speaking of Fidel La Barba, the former Olympic flyweight champion who is matched to meet Pancho Villa, Waterman says the west coast is crazy about him and turns out in droves when he fights.

When the little flyweight met Jimmy McLarnin not long ago the bout drew 17,000 customers. What he will draw against Villa, the world's champion flyweight, remains to be seen. But the crowd will probably be big enough to fill a place as large as the football stadium at Berkeley.

Good as La Barba probably is, he will certainly find the going rough against the almond eyed son of Luzon. If La Barba has not changed his style since he fought in Boston at the Olympic tryouts he will find his attack just suited to Villa's plans.

The only boy who troubles Villa is Frankie Genaro and La Barba will do well to study Genaro's heady style of going away from a headlong attack and smothering the leads.

FLYING FINN IS READY FOR RACE

Nurmi and Famous Watch To Run Against Eight Indians In L. A.

By HARRY E. FLANAGAN
For International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, April 25.—Paavo Nurmi, whose Finnish legs have carried him to thirty-three records, was ready today to meet, in a three mile event, eight of the fleetest Hopi Indians every strayed off the reservation. With clear skies this morning, the watch-toting runner, it was thought, would attract more than 30,000 spectators to the coliseum where the Finn will perform this afternoon.

In addition to the main attraction, the veterans of the Rainbow division, who are sponsoring the meet, have provided a supporting cast of performing athletes who are accustomed to play in main events. Nurmi today would make no predictions about the outcome of the race. Through Hugo Quist, his manager and interpreter, he announced he was satisfied with the condition of the track and was ready to run.

Fold Their Tepees

Atop a downtown hotel, where the Indians have been camping, their tepees have been folded and stakes pulled. These young men, Thomas Humphrey, Willie Arenas, Garnet Billy, Bruce Ahtuhu, Amos Hoyowesva, Cecil Betay, Anthony Barney and Harry Arthur, were prepared to demonstrate that a hopping Hopi was not considered beaten until the finish tape broke.

Lloyd Hahn, crack miler, was prepared to shoot for the record when he lined up against western stars. Willie Plant, America's walking champion, was to meet Frank Smouse over the mile route.

RALLY WINS GAME

A six run rally in the eighth enabled the Reds to nose out the Cardinals, 7 to 6. Cincinnati is now less than a game behind the Giants.

Jack May Not Fight Until Next Summer

NEW YORK, April 25.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, today laid his plans for a continuation of honeymooning in Europe. This means, in the opinion of experts, that Dempsey will not figure in a fight this summer and maybe not in the fall. Dempsey was reported as being convinced that no match can be arranged for him until after the Gibbons-Tunney and Wills-Weinert combats. The champion probably will not decide whether he will fight again until June or July.

MAKE US PROVE

our assertions that we have the best assortment of homes to be found in Glendale. From over 1000 listings we have hashed and rehashed, inspected and eliminated, until we have left a so-called "preferred list" from which we can quickly fill the requirements of any home-seeker. This classification makes it possible for us to save you time and money and makes the purchase of a home a real pleasure rather than a tedious task which is sometimes without system. No matter what your desires, we can fill them. There is not sufficient space to list and properly describe all classes, so if you don't see what you want here, remember that we have a trained organization of six representatives eager to show you our "preferred homes."

4 new 5-room Stucco bungalows in as pretty a setting as can be found in California. These are encumbered from $4600 to $4800. Assume the obligations and make your own proposition on the owner's equity. These must be sold at once.

For $1000 down you can buy a brand new 6-room bungalow, finished in solid mahogany, expensively and artistically decorated; in fact, a gem without a peer in its class. It has a tile bath and a floor furnace. Balance at $60 per month.

$7400—$1900 or less down. Absolutely unexcelled as to value and it is just the place somebody is looking for with its flowers and shrubs and the house is not old. Location the best—N. Maryland.

$12,000—$3000. In the better class home, we have seen nothing to compare with this; lot 75x175 in ideal foothill location. Big 2-story English stucco, hardwood finish and in every way a home of first class order.

Remember This—If you fail to make use of our listings you are losing an opportunity to save time and money, for we claim to have the best organized realty office in Glendale. Try us.

INDUSTRY SEEKS HELP OF FARMER

Metal Trades Body Makes Such Bid At Annual Cleveland Meet

By GUY ROCKWELL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

CLEVELAND, April 25.—Efforts to bring about a better understanding between the farmer, the worker and the employer were made at a conference of agricultural and industrial leaders here in conjunction with the convention of the National Metal Trades association. They agreed to adopt measures to convince the public and each other that the manufacturer was not a corpulent giant trying to squeeze dollars from everything he touched. And that the farmer was not a person with hayseed in his hair who said "By Heck."

"The welfare of 10,000,000 farmers and 12,000,000 workers in industrial and manufacturing pursuits is dependent on continued prosperity of industry and agriculture," said H. H. Lewis of Washington, executive director of the Metal Trades association. "I cannot conceive of one being prosperous unless the other is. Taxation and foreign trade problems are better solved when farmers and manufacturers work together."

Burghley Shut Out

FRANKLIN FIELD, PHILADELPHIA, April 25. — Lord Burghley, champion collegian hurdler, was shut out in the opening heat of the 120-yard hurdle event at the University of Pennsylvania tournament this afternoon. He finished third, behind C. D. Wood of Butler, and G. L. Scattergood of Princeton, after he had made a temporary lead going over the fifth hurdle.

More than 30,000 witnessed the races.

His lordship lost his stride at the eighth hurdle, however, and dropped behind in the flash of a second. Wood, striding to win by two feet from Scattergood, was a yard to the good over Lord Burghley. The latter won the quarter-mile hurdle yesterday, but today's event demanded speed more than endurance.

Charles Moore of Pennsylvania State, stepped the fastest race of any American hurdler since the days of Simpson and Thompson, when he won the second heat in 144/5 seconds. Moore simply spread-eagled the field with his feet.

Drake Results

DRAKE STADIUM, DES MOINES, Iowa, April 25.—With ideal weather conditions prevailing, the finals of the Drake relay classic got under way here this afternoon before a crowd which taxed the capacity of the stands.

The record-breaking started in the first event of the day—the half-mile relay for Class A high schools. Northeast high of Kansas City finished in 1:32.8. The former mark of 1.33.2 was made by University high, Chicago, in 1923.

The 120-yard hurdle—One of the feature events of the day—brought the tying of another Drake relay record. Guthrie of Ohio State breasted the tape in 14:8, the record made by Simpson of Missouri in 1917.

Two-mile university relay, won by Michigan; Ames, second; Illinois, third; Wisconsin, fourth. Time 7:51:4.

New Drake relay record was made in the two-mile relay.

One-mile college relay won by Butler; Ohio Wesleyan second; Knox third; Occidental fourth. Time 3:18.2, new Drake relay record.

Sojourning Masons to Push Plans for Lodge

The plans for the formation of a new Masonic lodge in Glendale are taking shape, and another meeting of those who have signed a petition for dispensation to form such a lodge is called for next Tuesday night, at the lower hall of the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard, at which time the necessary formal steps will be completed. Men qualified to act as master, senior and junior wardens of the new lodge will be selected, temporary secretary and a temporary treasurer will also be named, funds for expenses provided, etc.

This meeting is called by Col. A. M. Dewey, of 204 East Broadway, who has been chairman of all previous meetings, and Aubrey Artiss, of 1145 Melrose avenue, who is acting secretary. Arthur H. Dibbern, master of Unity lodge, has invited the sojourning Masons to visit his lodge in the upper hall after their own business is concluded, and be guests of Unity at a luncheon in the lower hall after their work is completed. This act of courtesy is highly appreciated by the sojourning Masons, according to Colonel Dewey.

MORE WELLS PLANNED

NEWPORT BEACH, April 25—High concentration of the oil in the Newport field is turning out to be an advantage and not a detriment to production and refining, according to John A. Yerkes in charge of important operations here. His firm is preparing to sink forty new wells, work to begin in a few weeks. It has already erected a refinery of 800 barrels daily capacity, and is producing regularly from four wells and refining the product. A fifth well will be put on pump in a few days.

HIGHEST SMOKESTACK

SEAL BEACH, April 25.—The highest smokestack west of the Mississippi river with the exception of one at Houston, Tex., is being completed in Seal Beach. It is said to be the highest stack in the United States on the roof of a building. It is 305 feet above the roof and 375 feet in all. Inside dimensions are 24 feet at the bottom and 12 feet at the top. It is twice as high as any building in Los Angeles, and is a landmark that on a clear day may be seen from any sectfon of Orange county.

NEW LODGE HOME

ORANGE, April 25.—A building permit for the erection here of the new $85,000 home of the Orange Odd Fellows has been issued by the city clerk. J. S. Metzger & Son of Los Angeles are the contractors in charge of the work.

FISH RUN STARTED

SANTA YNEZ, April 25.—Salmon are coming up the Santa Ynez river in large numbers. This fact makes H. J. Abels, game warden, a constant visitor in Santa Ynez. Fishing season does not open until May 1.

POULTRY SHORTAGE

SANTA MARIA, April 25.—Fred Illenstine has received a consignment of thoroughbred White Rocks from an accredited hatchery in Pasadena. Illenstine, who is connected with the Bradley hotel, says various hotels and restaurants in this city have great difficulty in getting sufficient fowls for their needs. With a number of poultry ranches being started in the valley, it is thought that Santa Maria will soon be able to supply the poultry and egg demands.

LOMPOC TO CELEBRATE

LOMPOC, April 25.—The town of Lompoc will observe its golden jubilee at a fiesta to be held during the late summer months according to plans now being completed by pioneers, business men and club women of the city. In the early part of 1875 the town was founded as a temperance colony, and history shows that the first few years of its existence saw many thrilling episodes over the attempt to introduce liquor as a beverage.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

NEW YORK, April 25.—It is not often that a coach gets results so immediate as are being had in the case of Herbert Schwartze, the University of Wisconsin weight man and football tackle.

Not many weeks ago T. E. Jones, track coach at Madison, said he had strong hopes of making another Arlie Mucks out of the former St. John's military academy star. The fact that in the California dual meet he tossed the sixteen pound shot over forty-eight feet certainly lent color to Jones' faith in the young giant, who, by the way, is twenty years old, stands 6 feet 4¾ inches and weighs 262 pounds in training.

Then last week came the Kansas relays with Schwartze heaving the ball 49 feet 11 inches for a new collegiate record.

This is just 13 inches less than the world's record held by the late Ralph Rose and Jones says that his man will go beyond that before the year

In St. Johns, Schwartze starred in the shot put, the discus and the javelin, and since he is working with the long lance these days something spectacular may be expected of him in this specialty too.

George Little, the director of athletics and football coach, thinks that the big fellow is going to be one of the outstanding tackles of the 1925 season. Last year he had his first experience of intercollegiate football and did exceedingly well for a beginner, especially in his kicking. But when he is taught to apply all his great strength and bulk, as Little proposes to do, one wonders just what line is going to stop this behemoth.

George Levis, a former Wisconsin basketball coach, is out scouting around the country, now, inspecting athletic field houses.

The Legislature recently passed and the governor of Wisconsin signed a bill permitting the Badgers to have this building. Under the usual sane Wisconsin plan the field house will be erected on Camp Randall site under the plan which saw the successful rearing of the stadium.

To be explicit, surplus funds from the earnings of athletic contests which hitherto have gone into the stadium will be devoted to the field house wherein it is hoped basketball will become profitable and help pay for the place.

The football stadium meanwhile will remain in its present state, about half completed. It meets most of the present needs and by the time expansion is required, it is expected that the way will be clear to go ahead.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, April 25.—Stocks settled down to lower prices today as leading industrial and motor shares were subjected to fairly heavy selling which they were unable to absorb without losses of a point or more in the first period.

Sterling exchange touched a new high at $4.81⅝, about ½c above yesterday's close, as prospects of Britain's return to the gold basis appeared more substantial.

The cotton market was slightly higher at the opening, and the grain markets were fractionally lower.

Mack Trucks sold down about 3 points in the first period, and losses of about 1 point in the average were sustained by Cast Iron Pipe, Steel, Baldwin, United Drug, while the majority of the industrial shares were lower. Selling of the oils followed the announcement of a 2c cut in gasoline prices in some parts of its territory by the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana. Standard of New Jersey declined to below 41, and independent oil shares, like Mid-Continent and Pacific, sold in good volume at fractionally lower prices.

There was a better tone to the railroad stocks. Union Pacific regained about 2 points of its recent losses, while Frisco common, Reading and Southern Railway continued to move forward. After early reaction the northwestern rails sold at slightly higher prices. Chicago & Alton preferred was about 1 point higher.

Professional traders were active on the short side of the market, their success in Baldwin and other industrial leaders being due to the apathy of the outside public. A 10-point drop in Commercial Solvents "B" and renewed weakness in American Sumatra helped to upset the specialty stocks, most of the leaders of the forepart of the week being conspicuous for their absence.

Short covering in the motor stocks near the close of the market accounted for the rally of a point or two in Maxwell and Mack Trucks, as well as in a few of the industrial stocks. Reading led the railroad stocks with an advance of about 2 points. United States Realty moved up 3 points, to 139½, while Commercial Solvents "A" and "B" lost 15 points each and completed a loss of about 100 points since February.

Sterling exchange moved up to a new high since 1915, at $4.82. French and Dutch exchange were also strong. Wheat declined about 3c and cotton was reactionary in the final dealings.

High-grade industrial and government bonds continued firm to the close. French and German bonds were unsteady, the French 7½s declining to 96⅞ and the German 7s to 93⅜. Second Liberty 4s sold at $101.07; fourth 4s at $102.09, and treasury 4s at $101.10.

Magna Copper convertible 7s moved up nearly 3 points, to 117. Virginia-Carolina Chemical 7s were in good demand around 92¾. Dodge Brothers' new 6s, at 99, and American Telephone & Telegraph 5s, at 96. Railroad bonds were steady, with major interest in the income and adjustment bonds of the strong railroad systems.

Sales today, 432,200 shares; bonds $5,729,000. Sales for the week, 6,400,300 shares; bonds, $70,351,000.

The B. F. Keith circuit has bought for approximately $5,500,000, the New York Hippodrome property, according to information over the brokerage wires of E. F. Hutton & Co.

A New York Stock Exchange seat yesterday sold for $104,000, or $2,000 higher than the previous sale.

Philharmonic Auditorium to See Glendale Company Present 'Manna'

The sensation which "Manna" created in Southern California has borne fruit. Many people who intended seeing the gripping drama, so impressively done by the Dobinson Players for three weeks at Glendale Playhouse continue to express regret that they missed it. Manager George Smith, of the Philharmonic auditorium, Los Angeles, sensed the great interest in the city, and has arranged to move the Dobinson Players to his theatre for a two weeks' engagement.

The Philharmonic auditorium opening date is Monday, May 11. In the meantime the Dobinson Players will finish out this week with "Good Gracious Annabelle" and next week, commencing Monday, will present the beautiful and humorous love drama, "The Wonderful Thing." This last-named attraction closes its week's run on Saturday night, May 2.

"The Wonderful Thing"

"The Wonderful Thing" is evidently to go over big, as several societies and clubs expect to attend in a body. The Elks' and the Lions' clubs have chosen next Tuesday nights which means a capacity house for that night. A record-breaking Saturday matinee also is expected.

An aggressive advertising campaign has been decided upon by Mrs. Dobinson and Manager Smith of the Philharmonic for the fortnight's engagement of "Manna."

Mrs. Dobinson wishes to repeat that "Good Gracious Annabelle" winds up a week's engagement tonight; "The Wonderful Thing will be on all next week.

KENNETH HARLAN STAR AT GATEWAY

Harold Bell Wright's Story, 'Brian Kent,' Gives Him Strong, Virile Role

Kenneth Harlan, who has one of the best roles of his screen career as Brian Kent, the hero of "The Re-Creation of Brina Kent," Sam Wood's production of Harold B. Wright's story, is one screen star who did not rise from the ranks. He began his career as a leading man!

Seldom has a player found his motion picture niche so quickly as Harlan, and kept it so securely. Unlike many stage players of several years ago, when motion pictures had not attained the high standing of today, he did not scorn a screen career.

Musical Comedy Star

In fact, right at the moment that he had scored a hit in New York as a musical comedy star, and opposite Gertrude Hoffman as a dancer, he chose to embark upon what was probably characterized by his Broadway friends as a harebrained adventure.

"The Re-Creation of Brian Kent" plays the last times at the matinee and evening shows at the Gateway theatre today. The bill for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday includes "The Dressmaker from Paris," which is truly a carnival of youth, romance and gorgeously gowned feminine beauty.

Kyne Story

"Beauty and the Bad Man" opening tomorrow at Glendale theatre, is a film version of "Cornflower Cassie's Concert."

Some months ago magazine readers were delighted by Peter B. Kyne's story, "Cornflower Cassie's Concert," the tale of a young, talented girl who got her big chance to make good on her glorious voice through the philanthropy of a California miner who was considered a bad man by the community.

Now these readers and many millions more are to have the pleasure of seeing this vivid story, titled "Beauty and the Bad Man," for three days at the Glendale theatre, beginning tomorrow.

Mabel Ballin, star of "Vanity Fair" and other notable productions, has been entrusted with the role of Cassie. Forrest Stanley plays the part of the supposed bad man who makes the girl's brilliant career possible. In the role of the delightful Chuckawalla Bill, a familiar character in Kyne's stories, is Russell Simpson.

Biggest Novelty

The program also will include the Phantograph, the biggest novelty of the stage today. Audiences shriek in delightful shivers of near-fear when, in the Phantograph, the big spider apparently flies toward them, the bathing girls leap over the footlights, and the brickbats fly their way.

On the stage Roe Reaves, the "kid glove kidder," will also be seen Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. His type is known as the "nut comedian." For the past three years he has been featured with such productions as the Zeigfeld Follies, "Kid Boots," "Big Boy" and the Music Box revue.

'QUEMADO' ENDS SHOWING TONIGHT

Popular Western Star Is Back In Favor With New Film

A thrilling and fanciful tale of a picturesque personality forms the basis of superb entertainment at the Glendale theatre, where "That Devil Quemado," Fred Thompson's latest production, will be shown for the last times today.

The popular western star sweeps right back into public favor on his magnificent mount, Silver King. A good cast gives the stars, both equine and two-legged, fine support. Gloria Hope's work is especially delightful. Del Andrews, the director of the production, shows dramatic skill in handling the characters and situations, as well as a good sense of comedy values.

On the stage is R. P. Varnadore and his Kentucky Ramblers. A rural comedy classic is offered by Bob and Peppy Valentine in their skit "On a Moonlight Night," the story of a love plot between a country lass and her metropolitan sweetheart.

Harry Garland, in his offering of "Songs and Wit," gives exceptional impersonations. The Three Saltos have an acrobatic act called "Monday Morning" which is different from the ordinarly run of tumbling and balancing acts and contains some side-splitting surprises of the sensational sort. Miss Helen Stapler "the prima donna petite" winds up a vaudeville bill of great variety with her repertoire of classical sections and popular ballads.

Owner Charges Rental Car Was Not Returned

Roy Bailey, 233 South Verdugo road, was arrested today by Detective Sergeant Williams and held in default of $2000 bail on a charge of grand larceny. Hearing has been set for May 5 at 2 p. m. In the meantime Bailey will be held in the county jail.

Bailey is alleged to have rented an automobile from Meager's Buick Rental service, 316 South Brand boulevard, on February 18. The machine was never returned, it is charged.

Community Plate Society Is Launched by Glendale Gem Merchant

Another new club for Glendale! But it's not a luncheon club, although it will deal with table silverware. The latest club is the "Community Plate club," started today by R. E. Cole, quality jeweler, located at 106 East Broadway.

The advantage of belonging to the Community Plate club is that every housewife member will be able to have a full, convenient set of table silverware immediately. No waiting until the money is saved up. A full set of high-grade Community Plate for a small down payment will be available to every member of the club.

"Haven't you always longed to possess enough beautiful silverware for all occasions? Or haven't you some one that you would like to surprise?" asks Mr. Cole. "Here is the way to do it. Join our Community Plate club. Pay only a little down and a small sum weekly. The offer will last for one week only."

COSMO TO SHOW M'CUTCHEON FILM

Madge Bellamy Is Starred In Picture Which Opens At New Theatre

"Never Say Die," that rollicking, hilariously funny film, starring Douglas MacLean, will be shown for the last times today at the new Cosmo theatre, Brand boulevard and Windsor road. The picture is a screen adaptation of William Collier's great Broadway stage triumph which kept New York in hysterical laughter for a year.

One of the humorous and thrilling situations is the hero's race to catch a steamer on which his wife is waiting to start on their honeymoon, and a hired gun-man is in full pursuit.

This trip to the steamer aboard a decrepit old hackney-cab in charge of a cabbie who is more happy than sober is said to be one of the most hilariously funny and breath-taking scenes ever filmed. Careening down the steepest grades, flying almost through space, past whizzing automobiles and street cars, the cab finally arrives at the——but why give the big surprise of the picture away.

Madge Bellamy Next

Tomorrow the Cosmo theatre program will feature Madge Bellamy in "A Fool and His Money," taken from George Barr McCutcheon's novel of the same name. Supporting Miss Bellamy is William Haines, Stuart Holmes, Alma Bennet and others in this very excellent picture. The sets are all that could be asked for in their authentic old world atmosphere. There is a most realistic castle exterior and the interior sets are equally as good. The story has been brought up-to-date in several instances and if anything, they add to the already great interest.

Incident follows incident and one hardly knows that the time has passed when the picture is over. The tale itself is of a young writer and what he did with $300,000 which came to him unexpectedly. He bought a real castle and went there to write a romantic tale such as he had dreamed of for years. When he got there he found that the castle had a ghost just as every good castle ought to have. Only in this instance the ghost turns out to be real and the reviewer will not give the story away because he believes that it should be seen by everyone as it will furnish entertainment as is seldom found in the general run of films.
